Item 5

Conservative Party nominated debate

NDM937

1. The National Assembly acknowledges the growing pressures facing social services in Wales and notes with particular concern:

- a. The accelerating decline in the number of residential and nursing home places in Wales;
- b. The inadequate level of the fees paid to residential and nursing homes in the independent sector compared to the level of funding given by Local Authorities to their own care homes;
- c. The high and increasing number of assessments that do not lead to the provision of community care services;
- d. The difficulties in recruiting and retaining staff in the social care sector, and especially in children's services;
- e. The decline in the numbers applying for social work qualifying training.

2. The National Assembly recognises the need to:

- a. Raise the level of fees paid to residential and nursing homes in the independent sector;
- b. Increase the proportion of assessments that lead to the provision of community care services;
- c. Value and support the social care workforce in Wales;
- d. Allocate sufficient funds to help facilitate higher standards and better quality in the social care sector.
