3. Believes that more needs to be done to encourage people to talk openly about suicide and suicidal feelings, to raise awareness and help ensure that nobody is left to feel they are suffering alone;
4. Calls on the Welsh Government to:
 - a) improve the collection of data to identify those most at risk;
 - b) ensure follow-up support for people attending A&E after self-harm or a suicide attempt;
 - c) provide more effective signposting for listening and advocacy services;
 - d) look at the delivery of projects such as the Calm Zone in Liverpool who are providing cutting edge advice in an age appropriate way that appeals to young people, and other national and international examples of best practice; and
 - e) assess support available for families of individuals with mental ill-health.
