on the Wales Audit Office Report into the Welsh Housing Quality Standard

Introduction

1. As part of the first national housing strategy for Wales, in April 2002, the Welsh Government introduced the Welsh Housing Quality Standard (WHQS) as a standard for all social housing to achieve by 2012.

2. WHQS expects all social housing to be:

- In a good state of repair
- Safe and secure
- Adequately heated, fuel efficient and well insulated
- Contain up-to-date kitchens and bathrooms
- Well managed (for rented housing)
- Located in attractive and safe environments
- Suited to the specific needs of the household (as far as possible)

3. The Welsh Government welcomes the Auditor General's report on WHQS published in January 2012. The Report highlights that there has been a substantial improvement to the quality of social housing in Wales as a result the introduction of the standard, but it also makes clear that the original aims of the WHQS are far from being met.

4. In advance of the Government's formal response to the Report this evidence paper sets out action currently in hand to strengthen the system and which is tackling some of the shortcomings identified by the Wales Audit Office.

Auditor General's Findings

5. The Report's recommendations cover in five broad categories:

i) General lessons for policy development, monitoring and evaluation for Welsh Government

ii) Monitoring and reporting compliance with the WHQS

iii) Promoting and evaluating the achievement of wider benefits from WHQS-related work

iv) Possible changes to the WHQS

v) Identifying solutions for homes not anticipated to meet the WHQS by March 2017

i) General lessons for policy development, monitoring and evaluation

6. The Report concludes that the manner in which the WHQS system was originally established highlights lessons for policy development more generally. We will be considering the detailed recommendations as part of the work now underway across government to develop policy more effectively. The recently adopted Delivering Results principles require policy developers to build business cases at various stages of policy development and implementation which understand the 'fit' of the policy with the widest set of policy aims, the 'impact' of the policy and the 'costs', both for Welsh Government and for delivery partners. The principles are now the standard operating practice of the Welsh Government. Proper application of the principles would address the relevant recommendations of the WAO report.

ii) Monitoring and reporting compliance with the WHQS

7. As the Report indicates a number of steps have been taken to improve monitoring against the WHQS and this work continues today. From 2005 monitoring of WHQS was through individual local authority housing revenue account business plans from local authorities. A steering group was set up in 2009 to progress a more detailed collection of data and a pilot monitoring exercise covering local authorities and housing associations was carried out in 2010 and published in March 2011.

8. In 2012 the Welsh Government is introducing a new more robust monitoring regime to gather detailed information on landlords' progress in meeting WHQS. The intention is that this data will be published as official government statistics. That requires us to improve the rigour and consistency of our analysis in line with the standards imposed by the Government Statistical Service. A task and finish group has already been set up by Welsh Government to include representatives of landlords to take forward this new monitoring regime.

9. One of the issues being addressed through this work is a proposal to improve the mechanisms by which landlords can be held accountable for recording and reporting separately on numbers of 'acceptable fails'. As the Report makes clear there are cases where upgrading is undesirable or unviable, sometimes due to the physical limitations of the dwellings or the wishes of tenants.

iii) Promoting and evaluating the achievement of wider benefits from WHQS-related work

10. The Welsh Government is continuing to work with landlords to maximise the social and economic benefits associated with housing improvement programmes and will be looking at ways of improving the promotion and capture of wider benefits from the remaining WHQS-related work.

11. It remains essential that housing providers should maximise their engagement in social procurement given their significant capital expenditure and associated regeneration opportunities. i2i has played a major role in taking forward this agenda to date through its development of the 'Can Do' Toolkit and through extensive support work across the housing sector. There is scope for i2i to play an even more extensive role in future as the Welsh Government responds to the challenge of embedding community benefits across other spending programmes. This work is being pursued jointly with Value Wales.

iv) Possible changes to the WHQS

12. The prospect of changes to WHQS was raised in 2008 by the review of affordable housing in Wales and in the 2010 housing strategy 'Improving Lives and Communities'. The Welsh Government recognises that there are many organisations that will take an interest in how this matter is pursued. Ministers believe that the Auditor General's report highlights the benefits that can be derived from a standard of this nature. It also makes clear the practical and financial consequences that flow from any lack of clarity with either the standards themselves or the way in which they are interpreted. It will be important that the messages contained in this Report are fully digested and understood before any decision is taken on whether changes should be introduced. The Welsh Government remains as committed as ever to delivering against the Standard and to maximising the impact that housing improvement investment can have on the quality of people's lives.

Av) Identifying solutions for homes not anticipated to meet the WHQS by March 2017

13. The report identifies that some landlords will not be meeting the 2012 target date for meeting the WHQS. The Welsh Government is working with these landlords to improve progress and recognises that there is a need to take stock of the situation in those authorities where tenants have voted against stock transfer. We will also be working with housing associations through the new Regulatory Framework to agree acceptable delivery outcomes in respect of WHQS.

14. The discussions that Welsh Government is having with the UK Government about the possibility of a revised financial settlement for the Housing Revenue Account Subsidy System (HRAS) are relevant to our further work in this area. These discussions are still in their early stages but we hope that they will be able to feed into our formal response to the Report and assist landlords to overcome barriers in delivering WHQS.

15. The forthcoming White Paper due to be published in May will also consider WHQS.

16. Although much has been done to improve our social housing in Wales, progress in meeting WHQS is still too slow. The Welsh Government remains committed to learning the lessons of the development of WHQS to date as we seek to further improve the quality of our social housing in future.

National Assembly for Wales' Public Accounts Committee: inquiry around Wales Audit Office Report on 'Progress in delivering the Welsh Housing Quality Standards'

Community Housing Cymru written statement

Community Housing Cymru (CHC) is the representative body for housing associations and community mutuels in Wales. Our members provide approximately 153,300 homes across Wales and invest heavily in housing-led regeneration and social care. In 2010/11, our members directly employed 6,500 people and spent over £800m in the Welsh economy. In July 2010, CHC formed a group structure with Care & Repair Cymru and the Centre for Regeneration Excellence Wales to jointly champion not-for-profit housing, care and regeneration.

Community Housing Cymru welcomes this opportunity to comment on the National Assembly for Wales' Public Accounts Committee inquiry into the Wales Audit Office Report on 'Progress in delivering the Welsh Housing Quality Standards'. Following the Welsh Government's monitoring exercise in March 2011 of the performance of housing associations and local authorities in working towards the Welsh Housing Quality Standard (WHQS) for their existing homes, CHC are delighted with the progress that our members are making.

CHC believe that the report is further evidence that the housing association sector is delivering housing and regeneration solutions to local communities and it shows the integral role that traditional HA's and large scale voluntary transfers play in contributing towards social, environmental and economic regeneration. RSLs are investing in communities, generating local training and job opportunities, delivering broader community regeneration, reducing fuel poverty for some of the hardest to reach people and reduced carbon emissions and energy bills.

Figures from the Welsh Economic Research Unit demonstrate that Welsh housing associations are an important agent in supporting housing-led regeneration. Housing associations are about much more than bricks and mortar and are having a greater impact on the Welsh economy than ever before. In 2010/11, they spent an estimated £802m, up 16% from the previous year, with 80% of that money retained in Wales. There has been a great deal of activity related to achieving the WHQS and the amount spent regenerating Welsh communities reached £424m in 2010/11 including £235.8m on maintenance, repair and upgrading homes, and £162m on brown field construction.

As mature social businesses, CHC believes that our members have the ability and also a responsibility to assist Welsh communities to emerge from austerity. We know that more can be done and there are also lessons to be learnt in ensuring that all tenants have good quality homes which also lead to better health outcomes and better job opportunities. Every tenant has the right to live in a home that is warm and secure in an attractive and safe environment.

Recommendations within the WAO report

CHC broadly welcomes the recommendations within the Welsh Audit Office report, although it is noted that many of the recommendations relate to the Welsh Government for response. Please see below for a summary of key issues in relation to each of the 5 general recommendations.

General lessons for policy development, monitoring and evaluation

There are significant challenges for the sector as funding moves away from grants and our sector faces significant reductions in social housing grant for new build and the impacts, for example, of welfare reform. This has obvious impacts on the financial capability of HA'S to deliver. It was clear from the work undertaken as part of the Essex Review that collectively the HA sector has the capacity to support additional borrowing to fund affordable housing. At a time when private investment is scarce and public purse strings are being continually stretched, Welsh housing associations increased their investment by an estimated 15% last year. Housing Associations can ensure that public subsidies are used to lever additional private sector investment. The key issue, however, was the lack of income to repay that additional borrowing. The rent setting policy for social housing rents in Wales has evolved over a number of years and CHC believes that any rent setting policy needs to drive quality and housing supply to ensure transparency and provide reassurance for tenants that landlords are sustainable. This will also incentivise better housing standards in times of austerity.

Monitoring and reporting compliance with the WHQS

Since the Welsh Governments monitoring exercise in March 2011, CHC has been working with partners within the WHQS Task and Finish Sub monitoring Group in developing future data collection arrangements. The group has developed a new annual monitoring form for assessing compliance against the WHQS and the form will be issued in early July 2012 and RSL's have already been asked to take a snap shot of their compliance and position at 31 March 2012.

Significant strides have already been made in picking up many of the recommendations in the annual return, including the introduction of annual monitoring of landlords' compliance with the WHQS from 31 March 2012 onwards. This includes the redesign of the monitoring return in order to measure the proportion of homes where whole-house or elemental compliance with the WHQS is due, at least in part, to acceptable fails. There has been an acknowledgement that while it was important to collect data on specific elemental failure it was also important to quantify the actual numbers of dwellings that included acceptable fails for the headline statistics. It was clear that the understanding of acceptable fails differed across the sector and it has been agreed that the "acceptable fail" element should be redrafted to reflect this.

Housing associations and community mutuals are regulated by the Welsh Assembly Government under the new Regulatory Framework for Housing Associations in Wales. The new regulatory framework offers a risk-based, proportionate approach to the regulation of housing associations in Wales. It is based on a relationship management model which provides sufficient flexibility to enable housing associations to improve services to tenants and grow as social businesses. Despite resources becoming scarce, it is essential that the regulatory system in Wales continues to focus on outcomes, remains flexible, is risk-based and reinforces good governance. Any monitoring or verifying of attainment towards meeting the standard must be kept within the existing regulatory framework.

Registered Social Landlords across Wales are obliged to collect information on their housing stock for a variety of reasons, for regulatory or other requirements. For example to gain Energy Performance Certificates on newly emptied properties, stock condition surveys, to plan future maintenance work and to access external funding. Developing an effective knowledge of your housing stock is one of the many key elements to ensuring the sustainability of RSLs, their properties and the communities they serve. The new regulatory framework focuses on delivery outcomes which are achieved through robust stock condition survey activities.

In September 2011, the Welsh Government requested an update from all landlords to establish their latest projected timescale for achieving full WHQS compliance.

The Welsh Government has already published a new timetable for their Housing Data Collections for 2012-13 due to reflect new requirements such as the introduction of a new data collection covering the Welsh Housing Quality Standard (and current resource within WG.) As noted earlier, the WHQS sub group has already developed a new annual monitoring form for assessing compliance against the WHQS. We broadly welcome the recommendation for all landlords to report to individual tenants whether their home is deemed to comply with the WHQS, although there will be practicalities in this approach and these need to be assessed appropriately.

Promoting and evaluating the achievement of wider benefits from WHQS-related work

There is now a consistent approach to delivering regeneration benefits from procurement across the whole housing sector including housing consortia, RSLs, stock transfers and local authorities through the use of the Can Do Toolkit principles (a toolkit designed to support social landlords in Wales to include 'targeted recruitment and training' requirements in contracts), where our members can negotiate the provision of jobs for local people.

Many achievements have been secured by gaining added value through procurement. The sector has also shown that this current economic climate accentuates how crucial it is that we use procurement as a vehicle to deliver wider value for money. A report published by i2i showed that the housing sector had created 1,183 job and training opportunities using the can do toolkit approach.<sup>1</sup>

Housing associations already have proven experience in combining investment in energy saving measures with job creation through the Welsh Government-funded Arbed scheme. The majority of the works in the Arbed scheme had been commissioned and managed by housing associations which achieved significant regeneration outcomes by the use of binding social inclusion clauses in procurement contracts. RSL's took advantage of cost savings and economies of scale offered by ARBED schemes to realign / bring forward their budgets for maintenance, housing renewal and neighbourhood support. They also levered in additional investment from energy companies through alignment with UK government energy efficiency programmes in order to widen the benefits of investment

CHC is committed to assessing these wider benefits when developing a clear framework for assessing value for money from landlords' expenditure on WHQS.

Possible changes to the WHQS

Despite the current intention not to introduce any changes to the minimum requirements of the WHQS (particularly in respect to fuel poverty, health and climate change) due to existing funding and work commitments, the sector is committed to reducing carbon emissions and improving energy efficiency and have significantly raised, primarily through their own resources, the average energy performance of their stock in the last ten years going beyond the requirement for a SAP rating of 65 under the WHQS. Social landlords are extremely well placed to instigate energy efficiency improvements as part of area based programmes (ARBED and CESP for example). Furthermore, the sector has been very active installing a range of renewable technologies, including the installation of around 3,000 solar PV installations. This has made use of the feed in tariff financial instrument before the sudden reduction in the tariff and RSL's are installing renewable energy through a range of other programmes including the renewable heat incentive to deliver these social, economic and environmental benefits. The sector is committed to this agenda and is aiming to deliver these benefits through future programmes including ARBED phase 2 and the green deal and Energy Company obligation.

Identifying solutions for homes not anticipated to meet the WHQS by March 2017

For those homes not anticipated to meet the WHQS by the specified date, CHC would be happy to work in identifying solutions to target these properties. Some tenants continue to live in poor quality homes and there are some homes which will never be capable of meeting the standard without the application of the acceptable fail principle.

CHC members are committed to improving standards and believe that the WAO report demonstrates that the RSL model works and is a significant exemplar of social enterprise success in delivering better public services in Wales.

DRAFT PUBLIC AUDIT (WALES) BILL

Purpose

1. To draw the attention of the Committee to the Draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill.
2. To invite the Committee to discuss and agree its approach to consideration of the Draft Bill.

Background

3. The Draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill was published on 15 March 2012 by the Minister for Finance and Leader of the House. The public consultation on the draft Bill, lasting just over 8 weeks, closes on 15 May 2012.
4. Attached at Annexe A is a copy of the written statement from the Minister. Attached at Annexe B is a copy of the consultation document, and the Draft Bill is attached at Annexe C.

Approach to consideration of the Draft Bill

5. Draft Bills are mechanisms used by Government to consult the wider public or particular interest groups on specific legislative proposals. There is no requirement in the Assembly's Standing Orders for committees to consider Draft Bills.
6. To date, the approach adopted by those committees that have resolved to consider legislative proposals within their subject areas has been to receive technical briefings on those proposals from the relevant government officials<sup>1</sup>.
7. These technical briefings have focussed on the consultation process, rather than the particular policy, in order to inform any subsequent, formal scrutiny of the relevant Bill (once introduced) without compromising that scrutiny.
8. If the Committee agrees to consider the Draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill, it seems reasonable to follow the approach taken by other committees, i.e. to receive a technical briefing from government officials. If Members are content with this, the clerks will make the necessary arrangements.

<sup>1</sup> The Health and Social Care Committee has received technical briefings on the Organ and Tissue Donation White Paper and the Draft Food Hygiene Ratings (Wales) Bill. The subject matter of the Draft Bill was also relevant to the Enterprise and Business Committee and the Communities, Equality and Local Government Committee; some members of the Enterprise and Business Committee agreed to attend the meeting of the Health and Social Care Committee for the technical briefing.

9. In terms of timing, there are only two scheduled meetings of the Committee due to take place before the consultation on the Draft Bill closes. Depending on the business already programmed for those meetings, and subject to Members' agreement, it may be necessary to write to the Business Committee to request an additional meeting after the Easter recess.

Action

10. The Committee is invited to—

- i. note the written statement, consultation document and Draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill at Annexes A, B and C respectively;
- ii. discuss and agree the suggested approach to consideration of the Draft Bill, as outlined in paragraphs 8 and 9.

WRITTEN STATEMENT BY THE WELSH GOVERNMENT

Title: Consultation Paper – The draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill

Date: 15 March 2012

By: Jane Hutt, AM, Minister for Finance and Leader of the House

On 12 July 2011 the First Minister made a Statement on the Legislative Programme for the Welsh Government in which he announced the introduction of a Bill to establish arrangements for more effective accountability, governance and oversight of the Auditor General for Wales (AGW) and his Office.

Today (15 March 2012) I am issuing a consultation paper, seeking comments on a Draft Bill designed to achieve those aims and more.

The Draft Bill does not diminish the AGW's independence from the National Assembly for Wales or the Welsh Government. In fact, it safeguards that independence, while at the same time reforming and modernising the governance and accountability arrangements relating to the AGW and his office and establishing the Wales Audit Office (WAO) as a corporate body with a distinct and definitive legal status.

The new WAO would be responsible for the full range of corporate-type functions currently vested in the AGW. The policy intent is to ensure that such powers no longer rest solely in the hands of one individual.

The new WAO would comprise seven members, the majority (five) of which would be non-executive (or non-employee) members. The five non-executive members would be appointed, on merit following fair and open competition, by the Assembly's Public Accounts Committee (PAC). The Chair of the new WAO would be appointed, also on merit following fair and open competition, by the Assembly on a motion tabled by the PAC.

The AGW would automatically be a member of the new WAO, and its Chief Executive Officer. There would be one employee-member of the new WAO who would be appointed by the non-executive members.

The new WAO would be the employer and budget-holder. The WAO's entire budget estimate would be subject to the Assembly's Annual Budget Motion procedure with the PAC, as now, laying the estimate (with or without modifications) before the Assembly. The new WAO would also have responsibility for establishing a fee scheme, and would be responsible for the collection of fee income associated with the AGW's functions. It would be required (jointly with the AGW) to produce an annual plan setting out, the intended work programme, its cost and projected outcomes for each coming financial year, and would be required, at least twice a year, to make interim reports and an annual report to the PAC on the progress made against the plan.

The AGW would continue to be a corporation sole and would continue to retain responsibility for his or her audit, examination and inspection etc functions, funded by the new WAO on the basis of due regard to the annual plan of work, with the WAO releasing resources to the AGW provided the resources requested by the AGW were reasonable.

The Draft Bill would also clarify, simplify and consolidate, as far as is practicable, numerous provisions relating to the statutory functions of the AGW to provide a consistent body of law that would replace the fragmented nature of existing legislation developed over time.

The consultation will end on 15 May, after which responses will be considered. It is my intention to introduce the Bill prior to the National Assembly's Summer Recess.

How the views and information you give us will be used.

Any response you send us will be seen in full by Welsh Government staff dealing with the issues which this consultation is about. It may also be seen by other Welsh Government staff to help them plan future consultations.

The Welsh Government intends to publish a summary of the responses to this document. We may also publish responses in full.

Normally, the name and address (or part of the address) of the person or organisation who sent the response are published with the response. This helps to show that the consultation was carried out properly. If you do not want your name or address published, please tell us this in writing when you send your response. We will then blank them out.

Names or addresses we blank out might still get published later, though we do not think this would happen very often. The Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Environmental Information Regulations 2004 allow the public to ask to see information held by many public bodies, including the Welsh Government.

This includes information which has not been published. However, the law also allows us to withhold information in some circumstances. If anyone asks to see information we have withheld, we will have to decide whether to release it or not. If someone has asked for their name and address not to be published, that is an important fact we would take into account. However, there might sometimes be important reasons why we would have to reveal someone's name and address, even though they have asked for them not to be published. We would get in touch with the person and ask their views before we finally decided to reveal the information.

Foreword by the Minister for Finance and Leader of the House

Good governance, accountability and openness are vital to the proper and effective conduct of our public services. The people of Wales have a right to expect the highest standards from those in public office and to see their expectations met and sustained. That is why I welcomed the First Minister's Statement last July on the Legislative Programme for the Welsh Government wherein he announced the introduction of a Bill to improve the Assembly's oversight of the Auditor General for Wales and to strengthen the accountability and transparency of that Office

The draft Bill proposes statutory arrangements that will deal effectively with those problems, while safeguarding the Auditor General's status and independence from the Assembly and the Welsh Government. The Bill will establish a new, corporate Wales Audit Office with seven members, five of which are to be appointed by the Assembly's Public Accounts Committee. The Auditor General will automatically be a member and the chief executive of the new body and there will be an employee member. The new Wales Audit Office will be responsible for the corporate functions currently vested in the Auditor General and will also have a duty to monitor, and a power to advise, him or her.

The draft Bill also proposes consolidating and simplifying, as far as practicable, numerous provisions relating to the statutory functions of the Auditor General to create a consistent body of law that will replace the scattered nature of existing legislation developed over time.

The consultation will end on 15 May. All responses will be considered and the draft Bill reviewed in the light of them. It is my intention to formally introduce a Bill in the Assembly prior to its Summer Recess.

JANE HUTT AM
Minister for Finance and Leader of the House

Introduction

1. On 12 July 2011, the First Minister made a Statement on the Welsh Government's Legislative Programme in which he announced the Welsh Government's intention to introduce a Bill, in the 2011-2012 session of the National Assembly for Wales (the Assembly), to establish arrangements for more effective accountability, governance and oversight of the Auditor General for Wales (AGW) and the AGW's Office.
2. The Welsh Government therefore intends to introduce a Bill to establish the Wales Audit Office (WAO) as a corporate body with a range of functions; to make provision about the AGW; to clarify legislation applicable to the AGW's financial audit and value for money etc, functions; and for connected purposes. This Bill will be called "The Public Audit (Wales) Bill".
3. The overarching purpose of the Bill is to provide for more open and effective governance of the AGW and the WAO while protecting and maintaining the AGW's operational audit independence from the Welsh Government and the Assembly
4. This consultation document explains the background to and reasons for the Bill and what the Welsh Government considers it should contain. A draft of the Bill can be found on the Welsh Government website at: <http://wales.gov.uk/consultations/improving/pawbill/?lang=en>. The Welsh Government wishes to know what individuals and organisations including those bodies currently audited or examined by the AGW think about the proposals in the draft Bill. This consultation document asks a number of questions on the content of the draft Bill on which comments would be welcome. Comments are also welcome on a suggestion that might warrant a further clause in the Bill in respect of sustainable development. The Welsh Government will then consider all the comments received and decide whether any amendments should be made to the draft Bill before it is introduced in the Assembly for scrutiny.

Background to the Development of the Bill

5. For some time the Welsh Government and Assembly Members (AMs) have had concerns about the management, governance and accountability arrangements relating to the AGW and the AGW's Office.

6. The concerns include the ways in which the then AGW undertook aspects of his duties, the lack of robust external accountability and the way that the then AGW worked with other bodies and applied the public resources made available to him in support of his functions and the running of the WAO. In consequence, the Welsh Government began to explore the possibility of securing provision in a suitable UK Government Bill that would provide the Assembly with the legislative competence to introduce primary legislation, by an Act of the Assembly, enabling the Assembly to modernise and strengthen the governance and accountability arrangements for the AGW and the WAO. The Welsh Government's written statement and explanatory memorandum on its proposals to secure such provision were laid before to the Assembly 22 October 2010 (attached for information at Annex 1).

7. Subsequently, the legislative competence secured in the Budget Responsibility and National Audit Act 2011 (the 2011 Act), when read with the Assembly's existing audit etc competence provision in Schedule 7 to the Government of Wales Act 2006 (the 2006 Act), enable the Assembly to pass primary legislation to reform the governance and accountability arrangements for the AGW and the WAO.

8. While that work was in hand, there were continuing concerns expressed by the Welsh Government, the Public Accounts Committee of the Assembly (PAC) and AMs relating to the actions of the then AGW whilst in office. Concerns included failures to prepare accounts for the WAO that complied fully with the required financial reporting standards, issues of propriety, and failure to uphold high standards of governance.

9. In March 2011 the PAC published its report on "Accounting, Governance and Propriety Issues at the Wales Audit Office". That report made a number of recommendations and suggestions to improve the governance and accountability of the AGW through Assembly legislation.

10. The cross-party consensus for legislation in this area, the Labour Party's manifesto commitment to "use our new powers to legislate for the Auditor General for Wales and the Wales Audit Office to be accountable to the National Assembly for Wales" and the Assembly's power to make primary legislation led to a proposal for a Bill being included in the First Minister's legislative programme,.

Current Statutory Position

11. Detailed provisions about the appointment and status of the AGW, the AGW's staff, financial affairs and general powers of the AGW are set out in Part 5 of and Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act. The office of the AGW is a corporation sole<sup>1</sup>. The WAO has no legal personality of its own, but is a collective term used to describe the AGW and the AGW's staff. The AGW is appointed by Her Majesty on the nomination of the Assembly. The tenure of the AGW is governed by paragraph 2 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act. There is no express statutory provision that governs either the length of the appointment or the number of times that a person may hold that office but such provision is made in the terms and conditions of the AGW's appointment.

12. The AGW appoints staff, sets their terms and conditions and has power to secure provision of services for assisting in the exercise of the AGW's functions. Sums required for these purposes and other expenses are paid from the AGW's budget, the estimate for which is considered by the PAC (which may modify it) in accordance with paragraph 12 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act. Then, under the Standing Orders of the Assembly, the estimate, modified or not, forms part of the overall budget motion moved annually in the Assembly (as required by section 125 of the 2006 Act).

13. The AGW is empowered in some cases, and required in others, to charge fees for auditing accounts and carrying out inspections and examinations, for example, into economy, efficiency and effectiveness. In addition to any funds made available in an Assembly budget motion by virtue of section 120(1) and (2) of the 2006 Act, certain provisions of enactments may authorise the AGW in some circumstances to retain receipts, for example, from fees charged for specific services. Where that is the case, for example, fees charged for the audits of local government bodies, the sums received by the AGW are retained and do not form part of the AGW's budget estimate, cannot be scrutinised by the PAC, and do not feature as a component in the Assembly's annual budget motion.

14. AGW also has power to borrow to meet a temporary excess of expenditure over income and is the Accounting Officer for the WAO.

15. In the exercise of his functions, the AGW is not subject to the direction or control of the Assembly or the Welsh Government. It is, therefore, of significant importance that the responsibilities conferred on the AGW and the business of his or her office should be conducted in an economic, efficient and effective way and that the systems of governance and internal controls operate to the highest standards.

16. The powers in the 2006 Act combined with those conferred on the Assembly by provisions in the Act 2011, which amended the Subjects in Heading 14 (public administration) of Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act to include the "Auditor General for Wales", enable the Assembly to pass legislation, by an Act of the Assembly, to modernise the governance and accountability arrangements relating to the WAO and the AGW. These powers do not allow the Assembly to make the AGW subject to the direction or control of the Assembly or the Welsh Government. However, that restriction does not prevent the Assembly conferring functions relating to the AGW on an Assembly committee (new or existing) independent of the Welsh Government, and not chaired by an AM who is a member of a political group which has a government role in Wales.

Need For Legislation

17. Arising from the concerns of Welsh Ministers, and AMs and evidence presented to the PAC, a number of weaknesses and failings relating to the actions of a former AGW whilst in office were identified.

Accounting Issues

18. Under paragraph 13 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act the AGW is required to prepare annual accounts in accordance with directions given by the Treasury including compliance with its Financial Reporting Manual (FRM). Under paragraph 16 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act the AGW is the Accounting Officer, required to sign the accounts, take personal responsibility for their accuracy and compliance with the FRM. The AGW is also responsible for the financial management of the WAO including ensuring that transactions are regular, proper and that full regard is given to the need for value for money.

19. At the behest of the current AGW the Comptroller and Auditor General examined the accounts and accounting records of a former AGW and confirmed that for the five years 2005-2010 his accounts did not comply with the FRM. It was found that expenditure on early retirement settlements, his accrued pension entitlements and cash received from the public purse had not been fully accounted for, leading to difficulties in establishing how his expenditure and the expenditure of his office reconciled to the amounts authorised by the Assembly.

20. To avoid or at least substantially reduce the risk of this being repeated it is necessary to change the legislation transferring the budget (as determined by the Assembly) from the direct sole responsibility of the AGW (as now) to a corporate WAO. To that end a corporate WAO would fund the AGW's functions thereby providing the necessary separation of responsibilities, monitoring and oversight that is absent in the current arrangements.

Propriety Issues

21. A former AGW engaged in criminal conduct using WAO computing equipment on both WAO and Assembly premises, pleaded guilty to the offences and was sentenced to eight months imprisonment in November 2010.

22. A report (January 2011) by the current AGW on the conduct of a former AGW alleges deliberate action on the part of the latter to conceal the true extent of an early retirement severance package for his Chief Operating Officer (COO) with reason to conclude that he wilfully excluded its nature and extent from his Audit Risk and Management Committee and senior AGW staff. The PAC concluded that he had misled the Assembly and that his actions, as the then AGW, amounted to misbehaviour for the purposes of paragraph 2(3) of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act.

23. During the term of office of a former AGW it is alleged that he to have authorised c £77,000 expenditure on training an expenses for himself and his COO but without any business case, personal development plans or other reason to justify the payments. The PAC considered the amount of training and the lack of justification did not represent value for money and that the main beneficiaries of the money spent were himself and COO.

24. To reduce the risk in the future that internal control systems could be overridden, the new legislation will provide for the WAO - rather than the AGW – to become the employer of all staff and for the WAO to have oversight responsibilities in respect of the AGW's functions. In addition, the corporate WAO would have other responsibilities, for example, procuring IT, staff training and other services which would remove or substantially reduce the opportunity for any AGW to act improperly.

Governance

25. The current AGW recognised early in his tenure the governance and accountability weaknesses he inherited and has taken action to remedy those shortcomings by strengthening his internal control systems and putting in place a number of regular review processes. Although these changes are welcome, their effectiveness is not consistent with accepted best practice: the AGW's three advisory committees (audit risk and management; resources; and remuneration) have no legal basis and provide no guarantee of institutional continuity; and members of the advisory committees are appointed by the AGW (with input from a nominee of the Chair of the PAC).

26. To address those concerns relating to accounting, propriety and governance issues, to substantially reduce the prospect of their reoccurrence and to provide greater assurance to the Assembly, and the public, the Welsh Government proposes changes in this Bill which would:

- fulfil the commitments made in public statements to reform and modernise the governance of the AGW including the WAO;
- establish a new corporate WAO whose membership will comprise of a majority of non-executive members appointed by the PAC;
- set out a clear division of responsibilities between the functions of the new WAO and those of the new AGW;
- make the new WAO the budget-holder with its entire annual income and expenditure estimate subject to the approval of the Assembly;
- require the new WAO and the new AGW to agree an annual plan of work;
- require the new WAO to fund, on request, the new AGW's functions providing the requests are reasonable;
- place a duty on the new WAO to monitor and a power advise the new AGW;
- enable the WAO to create committees (and sub-committees) and delegate its functions to them;
- improve transparency and accountability;
- protect the new AGW's independence and status; and
- consolidate and simplify existing AGW related legislation.

Details of the Draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill Proposals

Overview

27. The overall intention of the Bill is to strengthen and improve the accountability and governance arrangements relating to the AGW, the WAO and, as appropriate, to consolidate, simplify and/or modify legislation applicable to the AGW's audit and value for money etc functions, whilst protecting the AGW's independence and status.

28. To achieve those objectives the Bill will transfer employer, financial and other administrative functions from the current AGW and vest them in the new WAO which will report to and be scrutinised by the PAC. In turn the PAC will report to the Assembly. The Bill will retain the AGW's independence from the Assembly and the Welsh Government and provide, as now, for the new AGW to be appointed by the Her Majesty on the recommendation of the Assembly and for the new AGW to continue as a corporation sole .

29. The main provisions in the Bill will include the establishment of the new WAO as a body corporate with 7 members. The majority will be non-executive members appointed by the Assembly's PAC on merit through open and fair competition. The new AGW will automatically be the chief executive officer and a member of the new WAO and there will be one employee member appointed by the non-executive members of the new WAO.

30. The new WAO will be responsible for all the corporate-type functions currently vested in the AGW, the intention being to ensure that such powers would no longer rest solely in the hands of one individual. The new WAO will: have a duty to monitor and a power to advise the new AGW; employ staff; secure the provision of services; and hold property for the purposes of carrying out its functions and those of the new AGW.

31. The new WAO and the new AGW will be required to prepare an annual income and expenditure estimate for approval, with or without modifications, by the PAC. The PAC will be required to lay the estimate (modified or not) before the Assembly. The new WAO will be the budget-holder and its entire budget estimate once laid before the Assembly will be subject to the Assembly's Annual Budget Motion procedure. The new WAO will also have responsibility for the charging and collection of fees income associated with the new AGW's functions.

32. The new WAO will also be required, together with the new AGW, to produce an annual plan and both parties must have due regard to it. The annual plan will set out the intended programme of work, its cost and projected outcomes for each coming financial year. At least twice a year, the new WAO and the new AGW will report on an interim basis to the PAC on the progress made against the plan.

33. The new AGW will have responsibility for his or her audit, examination and inspection etc functions. The new WAO will provide the resources for the new AGW to carry out his or her functions on the basis of due regard to the annual plan of work, and provided the requests for resources by the new AGW are reasonable.

34. The Draft Bill will also clarify, simplify and consolidate, as far as is practicable, the legislation relating to the AGW's audit, examination and inspection etc functions to provide a far more consistent body of law that would replace the fragmented statutory audit etc. provision that has developed over the years.

35. As with all draft legislation technical changes will still need to be made (e.g. moving provisions around, amendments for consistency) prior to the Bill being introduced in the Assembly.

36. The principal powers of the Assembly relied on for this Bill are as set out in Part 1 of Schedule 7 to the Government of Wales Act 2006, as replicated below.

Public Services Ombudsman for Wales. [Auditor General for Wales.] Audit, examination, regulation and inspection of auditable public authorities. - a. the Assembly,
- b. the Assembly Commission,
- c. the Welsh Assembly Government,
- d. persons who exercise functions of a public nature and in respect of whom the Welsh Ministers exercise functions,
- e. persons who exercise functions of a public nature and at least half of the cost of whose functions in relation to Wales are funded (directly or indirectly) by the Welsh Ministers, and
- f. persons established by enactment and having power to issue a precept or levy.

The following are “open access public authorities”—

- c. the Welsh Assembly Government, and
- d. authorities which are Welsh public authorities, within the meaning of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (c 36).

Exception—

Regulation of the profession of auditor.

37. The Welsh Government will, during the consultation and before the Bill is introduced, engage with the Wales Office (and, if necessary, other UK Government departments) to discuss in detail whether all of the proposed provisions in the draft Bill are within the competence of the Assembly. The Welsh Government is of the view that there are respectable legal arguments that the draft Bill is within competence. The Welsh Government, however, welcomes views on this matter.

38. In some cases provisions of Assembly Bills require the consent of the Secretary of State in order to be within competence. In addition, the Secretary of State has power by order under section 150 of the 2006 Act to make provision consequential on Assembly Acts – e.g. to make changes to matters that are non-devolved that may be necessary in consequence of changes brought about by the Assembly Act in question relating to devolved matters.

39. There are a number of instances in existing legislation (that are being restated in this Bill) of criminal offences being created where it is a defence to the charge for the defendant to prove that he or she had reasonable excuse. To avoid any human rights issues in this Bill we have ensured that in each such case there is provision so that if the defendant adduces evidence of a reasonable excuse the burden will then shift to the prosecution to prove that the person did not have such an excuse. In other words the defendant will no longer have to prove that he or she had such an excuse; the defendant will only need to raise sufficient evidence of such an excuse for the burden then to fall on the state to disprove that.

40. This part of the consultation paper provides details of the proposals in the draft Public Audit (Wales) Bill and asks questions about some of its key provisions. It also seeks views on an additional matter that might be included in the Bill. A complete list of the questions is provided at the end of this document (Annex 3 on page 56). A full copy of the Draft Bill is available on the Welsh Government website at <http://wales.gov.uk/consultations/improving/pawbill/?lang=en>

41. The Bill is divided into Parts, then Chapters, then clauses. This part of the consultation paper follows the structure of the Draft Bill, but where a clause introduces a schedule, that schedule is considered under the relevant clause.

Clause 1: Overview

42. This clause provides an overview of principal provisions of the Bill and is not intended to have any legal effect.

Part 1 - National Public Audit Institutions

Chapter 1: Auditor General for Wales

43. This Chapter sets out the arrangements for continuing the office of the Auditor General for Wales (the new AGW) and related matters including appointment, tenure; resignation or removal from office; the way in which a person to temporarily exercise the functions of an AGW is to be appointed; employment etc of a former AGW; the status of the new AGW; disqualification; and the arrangements for his/her remuneration.

44. Some of the existing provisions, notably in Schedule 8 to the Government of Wales Act 2006 (the 2006 Act), about the current AGW's appointment, tenure (but only in respect of the powers of Her Majesty to relieve or remove an AGW from office), independence and status cannot be changed as the legislative competence of the Assembly does not permit that. Where that is the case, the effect of the provisions in the 2006 Act have been restated in the Bill.

Clause 2: Office of the Auditor General for Wales

45. This clause provides for the office of the new AGW to continue and for the AGW's appointment to be made by Her Majesty on the nomination of the Assembly, provided the Assembly is satisfied that it has consulted such bodies that appear to represent the interests of local government bodies in Wales. The new AGW will hold office for 7 years and will not be eligible for reappointment.

Question 1: What are your views on the new AGW holding office for 7 years? Is this too long, too short or reasonable?

Question 2: Do you agree that a person can only be AGW once?
--

Clause 3: Resignation or removal

46. This clause sets out the process for the resignation or removal of the new AGW; it closely follows existing provisions in paragraph 2 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act.

Clause 4: Employment etc. of former Auditor General

47. This provision provides for restrictions on a person who ceases to hold the office of AGW. The restrictions relate to offices, employments and services that it is considered would be inappropriate for a person who has ceased to be the AGW to take up or provide. The aim is to avoid any possible conflict of interest or perception of such a conflict when the person is AGW – e.g. to avoid the situation where an AGW nearing the end of his or her term of office carries out his or her functions leniently in respect of a body to which he or she may be appointed upon ceasing to be AGW.

Question 3: What are your views on placing restrictions on the offices, employments and services a person can hold once they cease to be AGW?

Question 4: Do you agree that two years is an appropriate length of time to apply these restrictions?

Clause 5: Status etc.

48. The office of the new AGW is to continue as a corporation sole.

49. The new AGW is not be regarded as a servant or agent of the Crown or as enjoying any status, immunity or privilege of the Crown except that the new AGW is to be regarded as a Crown servant for the purposes of the Official Secrets Act 1989.

Clause 6: Disqualification

50. A person will be unable to be (or continue to be) the AGW if he or she holds a disqualifying office i.e. any office or position to which a person may be appointed or recommended or nominated for appointment by or on behalf of the Crown, the Assembly or the National Assembly for Wales Commission (the Assembly Commission); member of the Assembly, House of Commons or House of Lords, the Scottish Parliament, the Northern Ireland Assembly or an employee of the new WAO.

51. The purpose of these provisions is to maintain the independence of the new AGW in respect of the bodies that the new AGW audits or examines. It is also considered that being the new AGW and at the same time a member of any legislature in England, Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland would not be appropriate.

Clause 7: Remuneration

52. Before the appointment of a new AGW is made, the remuneration arrangements relating to that appointment are to be settled by the PAC Chair after consulting the First Minister and the Chair of the Assembly Commission.

53. Consultation will enable the PAC Chair to obtain a wider view on the appropriateness of the proposed remuneration arrangements. The arrangements may cover salary and other benefits, including provision of and payments towards pension and may be revised from time to time, but they will not include any performance – based element. Amounts payable will be charged on the Welsh Consolidated Fund (WCF) i.e. paid from that Fund rather than from monies voted annually by the Assembly'. This is designed to further shield the independence of the office of AGW from overt political influence.

Question 5: Do you consider the procedure for settling the remuneration arrangements fair?

Chapter 2: Wales Audit Office

54. The overall purpose of Chapter 2 is to establish the new WAO as a corporate body, accountable to the PAC and the Assembly; for the new WAO to have a range of functions; and to provide for the effective governance of the new AGW.

Clause 8 and Schedule 1: Incorporation of the new WAO

55. This clause and Schedule 1 will establish a body corporate, to be known as the Wales Audit Office (y Swyddfa Archwilio Cymru in Welsh), to exercise in relation to Wales the functions conferred on it by the proposals made in the Bill on introduction. The new WAO is not to be a Welsh Government Sponsored Body.

Question 6: What are your views on the establishment of the Wales Audit Office as a body corporate?

Schedule 1, paragraphs 1 and 3: Membership and Status

56. The Welsh Government's intention in establishing the new WAO as a corporate body is that it should not be too large. The new WAO will have 7 members. They are to be 5 persons who are not employees of the new WAO ("the non-executive members"), the new AGW (who will automatically become a member) and 1 employee of the new WAO ("the employee member").

57. Neither the new WAO nor any of its members or employees of the new WAO are to be regarded as the servant or agent of the Crown or as enjoying any status, immunity or privilege of the Crown, and the new WAO's property is not to be regarded as property of or held on behalf of the Crown. The exception to this is that members of the new WAO are to be regarded as Crown servants for the purposes of the Official Secrets Act 1989.

Question 7: Do you agree that the membership of the new WAO should comprise 7 members?

Question 8: What are your views on the composition of the new WAO?

Schedule 1, paragraphs 2, 4 to 6: Appointment of non-executive members and the chair of the WAO and reappointments.

58. The Assembly's PAC will appoint each non-executive member of the new WAO, on merit on the basis of fair and open competition (Schedule 1, paragraph 2)

59. An appointment will be for no more than 3 years and no one can be appointed as a member of the new WAO more than twice.

60. One of the non-executive members of the new WAO is to chair it. It will be for the PAC to table and move a motion for the appointment of the Chair of the new WAO in the Assembly and to do so the PAC must have consulted the Chair of the Assembly Commission and the First Minister. The purpose of consulting the Chair of the Assembly Commission is to obtain a range of views on a non-party political basis about the appointment; the purpose of consulting the First Minister is to obtain the Welsh Government's view on the same.

61. An appointment of a new WAO Chair is to be for 3 years and the same person cannot be appointed as Chair more than twice. An initial appointment as Chair of the new WAO may be extended by the Assembly on a motion tabled and moved by the PAC Chair having consulted the Chair of the Assembly's Commission and the First Minister. An extension of an appointment will count as a separate appointment for the purposes of:

- the limit on the number of times a person may be appointed as Chair of the new WAO;
- remuneration arrangements; and
- the setting of terms and conditions, for example restrictions on the offices etc that may be held during and after holding office as a non-executive member of the new WAO.

62. The other non-executive members are to be appointed by the PAC following the procedures mentioned in paragraph 58 above. When there is a vacancy amongst the non-executive members the PAC will make the appointment(s) again on merit on the basis of fair and open competition.

63. A non-executive member is to hold and vacate office as a member or as Chair of the new WAO in accordance with the terms of his or her appointment.

Question 9: Do you agree with the appointment and re-appointment provisions for the Chair and other non-executive members of the new WAO?

Question 10: Do you consider the non-executive members' initial term of office of up to three years to be sufficient? If not please give reasons.

Question 11: Should non-executive members including the Chair be eligible to serve more than two terms?

Schedule 1, paragraph 7: Non- executive members and Chair of WAO: Remuneration arrangements

64. The PAC Chair, having consulted the Chair of the Assembly Commission and the First Minister, may make remuneration arrangements in relation to the Chair of the new WAO and the sums payable to that person are to be charged on and paid out of the WCF i.e. by the same method used for remunerating the new AGW (see paragraphs 52 and 53) and for the same reasons as stated there.

65. The PAC may make remuneration arrangements for any other non-executive member with the sums payable to those members paid by the new WAO.

66. The remuneration arrangements for the Chair and the other non-executive members of the new WAO may include provision for salaries, fees, travelling and subsistence and other allowances and benefits but no pension. To avoid any potential of compromising the independence of the new WAO Chair and the other non-executive members, no element of their remuneration arrangements is to be performance-based.

Question 12: What are your views on the remuneration arrangements for the Chair and the other non-executive members of the new WAO?

Schedule 1, paragraph 8: Non- executive members and WAO Chair: Other terms of appointment

67. The PAC may determine other terms and conditions applicable to the non-executive members of the new WAO including its Chair. To avoid potential conflicts of interest or compromise, the terms may include restrictions on the offices and other positions they can hold or contractual and other arrangements they may wish to enter during their term of appointment, and for a period of up to two years after they cease to hold office.

Question 13: What are your views the PAC being able to place restrictions on the Chair and the non-executive members of the WAO during their term of office and afterwards for a period of up to two years? Do you consider two years enough?

Schedule 1, paragraph 9: Non-executive member and WAO Chairs: Consultation

68. Before setting the remuneration arrangements and any other terms of appointment, and with the purpose of obtaining broader insight to such terms, the PAC or its Chair (as the case may be) must consult any person with oversight of public appointments as the PAC or its Chair (as the case may be) considers appropriate.

Schedule 1, paragraphs 10 and 11: Termination of appointments

69. The Chair of the new WAO may resign from that office by giving written notice to the PAC Chair and that appointment ends when the resignation is accepted. Any other non-executive member of the new WAO may resign by giving written notice to the PAC and the appointment will cease when the resignation is accepted.

70. Paragraph 11 (1) sets out the circumstances under which the PAC may terminate the appointment of any non-executive member by giving the member written notice.

71. The Assembly may terminate the appointment of the Chair of the new WAO on a motion tabled and moved by the PAC Chair (having consulted the Chair of the Assembly Commission and the First Minister) if the new WAO Chair:

- has failed to comply with the terms of his/her appointment; or
- is unwilling to carry out the functions of the Chair of the new WAO.

72. The removal of the new WAO Chair from that office, on either or both of those grounds, will not automatically remove him or her from being a non-executive member of the new WAO

Question 14: Are there any other grounds on which non-executive members or the Chair should be removed from office?

Schedule 1, paragraph 12: Additional remuneration of the AGW

73. The new WAO may make additional remuneration arrangements for the new AGW in respect of allowances and other benefits to cover expenses necessarily and properly incurred by the new AGW in his or her capacity as a member of and chief executive of the new WAO. Any such payments will be paid by the new WAO.

Schedule 1, paragraphs 13 to 18: Employee member of the new WAO

74. The employee-member is to be appointed by the non-executive members of the new WAO. The purpose of this appointment is to bring employee experience to the board of the new WAO.

75. Where there is a vacancy the new AGW must recommend a person for appointment to the non-executive members who must either appoint that person; or appoint another person of their choosing.

76. The non-executive members are to determine the terms of the employee member's appointment and may apply other terms including restrictions on offices or positions etc that the employee member may hold while in office or, for a maximum of 2 years after ceasing to be a member of the new WAO.

77. The non-executive members may make remuneration arrangements for the employee member but only in respect of allowances and other benefits necessarily and properly incurred as an employee member as he or she will continue to be paid as an employee of the new WAO. The employee member's term of office will not be regarded as a break in service of employment by the new WAO.

78. An employee member is to hold and vacate office in accordance with the terms of his or her appointment and will automatically cease to be an employee member of the new WAO if he or she resigns or ceases to be employed by the new WAO. The non-executive members may terminate the appointment of an employee member on the same grounds as those for the non-executive members (see paragraphs 69 to 71).

Question 15: What are your views on the appointment of an employee-member of the new WAO? Do you agree with the proposed way in which this person is to be appointed?

Schedule 1, paragraph 19: Employees

79. The new WAO is to have a power to employ and pay its staff (who will not be civil servants) on such terms as it may consider appropriate provided the recruitment and selection procedures of its staff and their employment terms are broadly in line with those of the members of staff of the Welsh Government (who are civil servants).

80. The WAO may include amongst its employees appropriately qualified auditors to assist the AGW with the exercise of his or her audit etc. functions.

81. Persons who wish to be (or continue to be) employees of the new WAO will not be able to also hold any office or position to which a person may be appointed or recommended or nominated for appointment, by or on behalf of the Crown or the Assembly or the Assembly Commission. The Welsh Government will ensure that it consults with the AGW and representatives of the employees of the AGW in order to reach a view as to whether these restrictions should apply to employees of the current AGW who transfer to and become employees of the new WAO if this Bill is enacted and comes into force.

82. Employees of the new WAO will not be regarded as the servants or agents of the Crown or enjoying any status, immunity or privilege of the Crown but will be taken as Crown servants for the purposes of the Official Secrets Act 1989.

Question 16: Do you agree that the recruitment and selection procedures and employment terms for WAO staff should broadly follow those of the staff of the Welsh Government?

83. The new WAO will be required to make payments in respect of superannuation benefits and their associated administration costs.

Schedule 1, paragraphs 20 to 22: Procedural Rules

84. The new WAO must make internal rules to regulate its procedures. The rules must set a quorum for any meeting of the new WAO and must provide that in all circumstances a quorum cannot be met unless a majority of the members present are non-executive members. Subject to that, the rules may provide for different quorums to apply in different circumstances.

85. The new WAO may establish committees and sub-committees and make rules for regulating them. An employee of the new WAO, other than the employee member of the new WAO, may serve as a committee or sub-committee member. A person who is neither an employee member of the new WAO nor an employee of it may be a member of a committee or sub-committee of the new WAO but only if the committee or sub-committee does not have any functions of the new WAO delegated to it.

Schedule 1, paragraphs 23 and 24: Powers and Validity

86. The new WAO will be able to do anything (including holding and disposing of property, land and interests in land) which supports the carrying out of its functions (including its functions with respect to the new AGW) and the validity of anything done by it, its members or any committee or sub-committee of it will not be affected by any vacancy or a defective appointment.

Schedule 1, paragraph 25: Delegation of Functions

87. Subject to certain restrictions, the new WAO may delegate its functions to any of its members, employees or committees or persons providing services to the new WAO or for the new AGW. A committee of the new WAO may delegate any of its functions (including functions delegated to it) to a sub-committee. The delegation of a function does not affect the responsibility of the new WAO for the exercise of the function. The new WAO's functions that cannot be delegated are the:

- estimate of its income and expenditure for each financial year;
- appointment of a person to temporarily exercise the AGW's functions;
- making of rules for regulating its procedures;
- recommendation for the appointment of its auditor;
- preparation of its annual plan; and
- preparation of its interim and annual reports.

Schedule 1, paragraph 26: Provision of Services

88. The purpose of this paragraph is to ensure that the new WAO can buy in services that it may need and the expert audit etc services that the new AGW may need to carry out his or her functions. It enables the new WAO to provide services to and receive services from a relevant authority, as defined, and also enables the new WAO and a relevant authority, a qualified auditor or an accountancy body to make arrangements to co-operate with and give assistance to each other (including by and to the new AGW). The new WAO will be able to make such arrangements on terms agreed with suppliers but if the new WAO imposes a charge for its or the new AGW's services that charge may only be imposed in accordance with the scheme of charges under clause 22.

Question 17: What are your views on the powers under Schedule 1, paragraph 26 in relation to the provision of services. Are these powers wide enough? What else should be added?

Schedule 1, paragraph 27: WAO Accounts

89. The PAC will have the power to appoint the new AGW or some other person as accounting officer for the new WAO. The accounting officer must for each financial year keep proper accounts and records, prepare and sign the statement of accounts of the new WAO in accordance with directions given by the Treasury. The Treasury directions may include directions to prepare accounts relating to the financial affairs and transactions of persons other than the new WAO and the person appointed as accounting officer will have such other functions as the PAC may decide.

Question 18: Should the PAC have a duty to appoint the accounting officer to the new WAO?

Schedule 1, paragraphs 28 and 29: Audit of the WAO

90. Subject to the approval of the PAC, the appointment, terms and conditions of the new WAO's auditor are to be determined by the new WAO. That is a departure from the present arrangements where the PAC is solely responsible for appointing the auditor of the current AGW and his office. By placing the new WAO on a statutory basis, giving it a corporate identity, vesting it with range of significant responsibilities in managing its own affairs, and making it accountable to the PAC and the Assembly, the revised approach is considered to be more suited to the proposals in this Bill.

91. The auditor must fulfil certain eligibility requirements and on appointment will be expected to follow the standards and principles of an expert provider of accounting and auditing services. The new WAO's accounts must be submitted to the auditor by the Chair of the WAO no later than 5 months after the end of the financial year to which they relate. On completing the audit, the auditor must certify the accounts and submit them, with the auditor's report on them, to the PAC and the PAC must lay them before the Assembly no later than 4 months after the accounts have been submitted. The auditor will also have the power to conduct economy, efficiency and effectiveness examinations with which the new AGW and/or the new WAO have used resources in discharging their functions and for the auditor to report findings to the PAC. In turn the PAC must lay any report on the result of the auditor's value for money examinations before the Assembly.

Question 19: Should the PAC approve the appointment, terms and conditions of the new WAO's auditor?

Schedule 1, paragraph 30: Documentary evidence

92. The new WAO, rather than the new AGW, is to have a corporate seal, because it will be the new WAO that employs staff, holds property and secures the provision of services to enable the new AGW to exercise his/her functions. The application of the seal, so that documents may be received in evidence, is to be authenticated by a member of the new WAO or an authorised employee of the new WAO.

Clause 9: Efficiency

93. The new WAO is to be under a duty to aim to carry out its functions efficiently and cost-effectively. While there is no mechanism for enforcement, cases of significant failure to comply could lead to a challenge by way of judicial review. In addition, exercising the duty would be a matter that the auditor of the new WAO may have regard to when examining the ways in which the new WAO has used its resources, and taken into account when the members of the new WAO are held to account by the PAC and/or the Assembly.

Clause 10: Expenditure

94. At present the statutory process for establishing the estimate of the current AGW's income and expenses and the setting of that budget is set out in the 2006

Act. Under the Assembly's Standing Order 20, the estimate is laid before the Assembly (with or without modifications made by the PAC), considered, included in the Annual Budget Motion and then agreed by the Assembly (or not as the case may be). But under paragraph 9(3) and (4) of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act, the current AGW may retain fees earned through the exercise of functions related to local government in Wales and apply the proceeds without the need for that to be covered in the Annual Budget Motion.

95. Paragraphs 12(5) and (6) of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act prevent the PAC considering or modifying that part of the estimate of the current AGW which relates to income and expenses in respect of the audit etc. of local government bodies in Wales. The reason for this and also perhaps the paragraph 9 (3) and (4) provision, was to establish and maintain a degree of separation between, at the time, the advent of the Assembly under the Government of Wales Act 1998 and democratically elected local government. Thereafter, when local government audit was brought within the overall responsibility of the current AGW by the Public Audit (Wales) Act 2004, the concern may have been that the Assembly, as a statutory corporate body, consisted of both the 'legislature' and the 'executive'. Therefore, it was not seen as appropriate that the 'executive' could consider and modify the current AGW's estimate so far as that applied to his functions in respect of local government in Wales.

96. The intention of clause 10 and clauses 13 to 15 is that the responsibility for seeking and allocating resources enabling the new AGW to exercise his or her audit etc. functions are to be shared between the new AGW and the new WAO with the latter being the budget-holder for the purposes of its functions and those of the new AGW. The intention behind making the new WAO the budget-holder is to remove from the office of AGW sole responsibility for such matters and so address some of the weaknesses in the governance structure brought to light during and after the term of office of a former AGW. Furthermore, with the separation of legislature and executive under the 2006 Act, the PAC and the Assembly are to have full power to consider all of the estimate of the income and expenditure of the new WAO including the elements relating to local government. The provisions of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act enabling the AGW to retain fee income in respect of much of the AGW's local government functions will be repealed. All fee income will be required to be paid back into the WCF except where the Assembly has agreed in the Annual Budget Motion that fee income may be retained by the new WAO and applied for specified purposes.

97. For each financial year the Chair of the new WAO and the new AGW are to jointly prepare an estimate of all the income and expenditure of the new WAO which must include, in particular, the resources needed for the new AGW's functions. The new WAO will be designated as a "relevant person" for the purposes of sections 125 to 128 of the 2006 Act (sums to be paid out of the WCF by budget resolution of the Assembly) instead of, as now, the AGW.

98. Clause 10 provides that the Chair of the new WAO and the new AGW must jointly submit an estimate for each financial year to the PAC at least 5 months before the start of the financial year to which it relates. The PAC is to review the estimate and lay it before the Assembly with any modifications the PAC considers appropriate. Before laying an estimate before the Assembly with modifications the PAC will be required to consult the Chair of the new WAO and the new AGW and take into account any representations they may make. The estimate (modified or otherwise) will then form part of the Annual Budget Motion under Standing Order 20 of the Assembly's Standing Orders.

Question 20: Do you agree with the proposal that the PAC considers the estimate and that it forms part of the Annual Budget Motion?

Clause 11: Borrowing

99. The new WAO, rather than the new AGW, is to have a power to borrow money in sterling, by way of overdraft or otherwise, to be applied for the purpose of meeting a temporary excess of expenditure over sums available to meet it. The AGW is not to have the power to borrow money.

Clause 12: Annual Plan

100. This clause proposes that the new WAO and the new AGW, before the beginning of each financial year, must agree an annual plan for that year. The annual plan is to set out the new AGW's and the new WAO's work programmes for the year, the budget available or expected to be available to the new WAO in year and how those resources are to be applied to their work programmes. The Annual Plan must also include the maximum amount of resources that it is expected will be allocated by the new WAO to the new AGW for the purpose of the new AGW's work programme. The clause also defines what the new AGW's and the new WAO's work programmes are to mean.

101. Because the Welsh Government does not wish there to be any incursion on the independence of the new AGW in respect of his or her complete discretion to exercise his or her functions, neither the Assembly nor the PAC is to have a role in approving the annual plan and there is a particular procedure (see below) for setting out in the annual plan the expected maximum amount of resources to be available to the new AGW. But the PAC will have a role in considering and, if it considers it appropriate, modifying the new WAO's and the new AGW's annual financial estimate and the new WAO's entire budget will be subject to approval in the Annual Budget Motion. The totality of the Assembly approved budget for the new WAO will underpin the programmes of work set out in the annual plan.

Question 21: What are your views on the PAC having a power to scrutinise and/or approve the annual plan with or without modifications?

Question 22: What are your views on the PAC being empowered to lay the annual plan before the Assembly, and the Assembly being enabled to approve it with or without modifications?

Clause 13: Annual Plan: resources to be allocated to the Auditor General

102. This clause sets out the procedure for the new AGW and the new WAO to agree, in the annual plan, the anticipated maximum resources anticipated for allocation to the new AGW. This procedure is designed to respect the independence of the new AGW so far as practicable within the new system for allocation of resources. The new AGW is to submit to the new WAO a statement setting out:

- his or her work programme for the year ;
- his or her estimate of the resources needed to carry out that work; and
- the maximum amount of resources that the new AGW anticipates will be required to do the work.

103. The new WAO may either agree the new AGW's statement and incorporate its content into the annual plan or reject the statement or any part of it. The new WAO may only reject the statement if it or any part of it is unreasonable, in which case the new WAO will ask the new AGW to submit an amended statement. The test of reasonableness is intended to be an objective test.

Question 23: What are your views on the proposed method of determining the anticipated maximum amount of resources to be allocated to the new AGW by the new WAO?

Clause 14: Annual plan: National Assembly procedure

104. This clause will provide that the new AGW and the Chair of the new WAO will be required to submit the plan to the PAC and lay it before the Assembly. The PAC is to be required to publish the annual plan.

Clause 15: Annual Plan: Effect

105. Neither the new WAO nor the new AGW are to be bound by the annual plan but they will each have a duty to have due regard to it in the carrying out of their functions including but not limited to the provision of resources to the new AGW under clause 16.

106. The annual plan is set before the beginning of the financial year and the intention is that it will not be amended. Reporting will be against the annual plan as set showing deviations from the plan (if any). As such it would be too rigid to bind the new WAO and new AGW to the plan but in all they do they must have due regard to their original annual plan of work for the financial year. Due regard means that they must give the annual plan the appropriate weight in all the circumstances. Consequently, if nothing changes the expectation will be that the plan will be followed. If an urgent matter arises that was not foreseen at the time of setting the annual plan then the new WAO and new AGW must have due regard to, the work programmes in the annual plan and the resources allocated for that, when deciding whether to deviate from the annual plan to deal with the urgent matter that has arisen.

Clause 16: Provision of resources to the Auditor General

107. This clause proposes that the new WAO, as the budget-holder, is to be responsible for providing resources to the new AGW so that he or she can carry out his or her functions, in particular, employing staff to assist the new AGW; securing services from any person (e.g. external audit or tax services); holding property or documents or other data; and keeping records to assist the new AGW in carrying out his or her functions.

108. Resources will be released to the new AGW, on request, provided what is to be done and its cost are identified. The new WAO may only refuse a request if it is unreasonable and under clause 15, both parties are to have due regard to the anticipated maximum amount of available resources (for the new AGW's functions) as set by the annual plan, The test of reasonableness is intended to be an objective test.

Question 24: Do you consider the approach to the release of resources for the new AGW's functions to be appropriate?

Clause 17 and Schedule 2: Relationship with the Auditor General

109. Clause 17(1) provides that the new AGW is to be the chief executive of the new WAO but not an employee of it. There is no specific provision in the Bill that gives the chief executive any additional powers or duties over and above being a member of the new WAO although it is possible that he or she could be given specific roles within the procedural rules of or delegations set by the new WAO.

Schedule 2, paragraph 1: WAO to monitor and provide advice

110. A further element of the new governance and accountability arrangements for the new AGW is to ensure that the new WAO not only holds the budget and provides the resources for the new AGW but also monitors and advises the new AGW. To that end this paragraph will: place a duty on the new WAO, in such manner as it considers appropriate, to monitor the exercise of new AGW's functions; empower the new WAO to give advice to the new AGW on his or her functions; and place a duty on the new AGW to have regard to any such advice.

Question 25: What are your views on the new WAO monitoring and advising the new AGW?

Schedule 2, paragraph 2: Delegation of the functions of the AGW to the WAO

111. This paragraph is similar to paragraph 8 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act with some modifications. The provision will enable any function of the new AGW to be carried out by an employee of or person providing services to the new WAO (including those providing services for the new AGW), provided the employee or person is authorised to do so in a scheme of delegation made by the new AGW.

112. Any scheme of delegation can only be made or have effect if the new WAO approves it.

113. Any function of the new AGW may be carried out jointly with an employee or person (providing services to the WAO) authorised under a scheme but any delegation does not stop the new AGW from doing anything personally nor does it affect the responsibility of the new AGW on whose behalf the function is carried out.

Question 26: Should the new WAO approve the new AGW's scheme of delegation?

Schedule 2, paragraph 3: Reports

114. One of the ways in which the new WAO and the new AGW are to be made more accountable to the Assembly and more transparent, is through the scrutiny of their actions in year and at the year-end. Clauses 12 to 15 set out the arrangements relating to the annual plan of the new AGW and the new WAO; Following on from that, the intention of paragraph 3 of Schedule 2 is for the PAC and the Assembly to receive these reports, and for the PAC to consider and report publically on them and, therefore, on the exercise of functions of the new AGW and the new WAO on a regular basis

115. The Chair of the new WAO and the new AGW must, as soon as practicable, after the end of each financial year, jointly prepare a report on the carrying out during that year of the functions of the new WAO and the new AGW. The intention is that the annual report will contain information on how far during the financial year there has been compliance with or divergence from the annual plan and use of resources. The annual report may also contain any other matters that the Chair of the new WAO and new AGW consider appropriate.

116. The Chair of the new WAO and new AGW will be required jointly to submit the annual report to the PAC which is to publish it and the new WAO and new AGW must lay it before the Assembly.

117. In addition, the Chair of the new WAO and the new AGW will have to jointly submit 'interim' reports to the PAC. These reports will cover the same matters as set out in paragraph xxx above save that they will cover progress made to the date against (and divergence (if any) from) the annual plan. The PAC is not to be under a duty to publish the interim reports but the new WAO and new AGW must lay interim reports before the Assembly.

118. Interim reports are to be submitted to the PAC twice within each financial year. It will be for the PAC to determine, from time to time, the dates by which such reports are to be submitted to it.

119. The PAC is to consider, in public session, each annual and interim report received by it and must as soon as reasonably practicable following receipt of such a report, lay a report before the Assembly setting out the PAC's findings in relation to it.

Question 27: What are your views on the new AGW and the new WAO being required to prepare interim and annual reports?

Question 28: What are your views on the PAC having a scrutiny role in relation to these reports?

Schedule 2, paragraph 4: Documents and information

120. This paragraph will provide that any document or information which a person must or may provide to the new AGW may also be provided to the new WAO. This is intended to support the responsibility to be placed on the new WAO to receive and hold documents and information for the new AGW and to maintain records. The paragraph will also provide that the new WAO is responsible for complying with the requirements of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Environmental Information Regulations 2004.

Clause 17 and Part 2 of Schedule 2, paragraphs 5 to 14: Exercise of the functions of the AGW temporarily by another person

121. At present if there is a vacancy in the office of the current AGW or that person becomes incapable or unwilling to carry out the functions of the AGW, there is no provision for a person to be appointed temporarily to exercise the functions of an AGW. Instead reliance has hitherto been placed on an existing AGW to have authorised, under paragraph 8 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act, a member of his/her staff to exercise the AGW's functions. That is considered to be less than satisfactory so this clause and Part 2 of Schedule 2 set out certain circumstances in which the new WAO, with the express agreement of the Chair of the PAC, may designate an employee of the WAO to temporarily exercise the functions of the AGW. The circumstances are:

- the office of the current AGW is vacant;
- the appointed AGW is unwilling to discharge the functions of the office;
- the WAO and the PAC Chair consider that the appointed AGW is unable to discharge the functions of the office.

122. A designation in respect such a circumstance may last for a period of up to 6 months and with the agreement of the WAO and the PAC Chair a designation could be extended for a further period of up to 6 months. When a person is designated or the designation is extended, the WAO Chair will be required, in each case, to lay a statement before the Assembly giving the reason for the designation, the identity of the person designated, the length of time for which that person has been designated and that the PAC Chair is in agreement.

Question 29: Do you agree with the arrangements proposed for the designation of a person to temporarily exercise the functions of the AGW?

Clauses 18 to 22 – Fees

Clause 18: General provision relating to fees

123. The functions of the current AGW relating to charging fees in respect of audit and Vfm examinations etc. are to transfer to the new WAO because the new WAO will be the budget holder. Consequential amendments to existing legislation will be made to reflect this.

124. Clause 18 together with clauses 19 to 22 make provision about fees.

125. Where the current AGW has a power to charge provision is made so that the new WAO will have the power to charge. Where the current AGW has a duty to charge provision is made so that the new WAO has the duty to charge. However, the new WAO will in each case be able to charge up to but not exceeding the full cost of the service.

126. Fees may only be charged in accordance with the scheme provided for in clause 22.

Clause 19: Fees charged to local government bodies

127. This clause enables the new WAO to make provision in respect of scales of fees that must be paid in respect of audit etc. of local government bodies and for fee charges above or below the prescribed fee(s) if the work done is more or less than anticipated. It also imposes a duty on the new WAO to charge for the new AGW's services under clause 73.

Question 30: Should the new WAO be under a duty and/or power to charge fees in respect of any audit, examination by the new AGW in respect of local government bodies in Wales?

Clause 20: Fees for data matching

128. This clause enables the new WAO to make provision in respect of scales of fees for data matching exercises and for fee charges above or below the prescribed fee(s) if the work done is more or less than anticipated.

Clause 21: Welsh Ministers' power to prescribe a scale of fees

129. This clause enables the Welsh Ministers to prescribe a scale or scales of fees in place of those prescribed by the WAO under clause 19 or clause 20.

Clause 22: Scheme for charging fees

130. This clause makes a significant change in respect of fees. As stated the new WAO may only charge fees in accordance with its fees scheme which must be approved by the PAC before it can be made.

Part 2 – Public Audit and Value for Money Functions

Chapter 1 – Exercise of Functions

Clause 23: How functions are to be exercised

131. This clause continues the independence of the new AGW. It provides for the new AGW to have complete discretion in the carrying out of any of his or her functions and that the new AGW is not to be subject to the direction or control of the Assembly or the Welsh Government. The discretion is subject to: the new AGW exercising his or her functions efficiently and cost-effectively; the new AGW having regard to expert professional accounting and auditing practices; the new AGW taking into account the views of the PAC; and the requirement on the new AGW to have due regard to advice given by the new WAO and to the annual plan.

Question 31: Please detail any other matters you think should be included in the list of exceptions in clause 23(2)

Clause 24: Supplementary powers

132. The new AGW will be given a broad power to do things which support the carrying out of his or her functions.

133. As drafted, however, there is no reference to the new AGW being able to hold property (as land etc. will be held by the new WAO).

Clause 25: Other powers

134. Clause 25(1) to (3) enable Welsh Ministers, where they are entitled to appoint the auditor of the accounts of any person (other than the new AGW), to appoint the new AGW to be the auditor even where the new AGW would otherwise be ineligible to be the auditor. Before doing that the new WAO must be consulted by the Welsh Ministers who may make any appointment for a specific period or indefinitely. There is also provision so that the Welsh Ministers or a Minister of the Crown may make an agreement with any person so that the new AGW may audit that person's accounts or carry out value for money examinations (and make recommendations) into that person's use of resources and the way they have discharged their functions. Before entering into such an agreement there must be consultation with the new WAO.

135. The clause also sets out a power by which functions of the Comptroller and Auditor General (C&AG) (the UK Parliament's auditor) can be transferred by the Secretary of State to the new AGW in cases where a transfer of functions order under section 58 of the 2006 Act transfers functions of preparing accounts to the Welsh Ministers. Furthermore, where the Treasury designates Welsh Ministers for the purposes of the whole of government accounts, for the new AGW to be the auditor in that respect.

Clause 26: Transfer etc of functions of the Comptroller and Auditor General

136. This clause sets out the arrangements whereby the Secretary of State can transfer the C&AG's functions in respect of public bodies with functions that relate exclusively to Wales (or an area of it) to the new AGW. Such provision could also be made in a transfer of functions order under section 58 of the 2006 Act.

Clause 27: Transfer etc of the functions of the Welsh Ministers

137. This clause enables Welsh Ministers, with the consent the new AGW, to transfer any of their supervisory functions in respect of a public body or a registered social landlord to the new AGW or may provide for them to be exercised by the new AGW on behalf of the Welsh Ministers. Before giving any consent the new AGW must consult the new WAO. Sub-section (3) defines "supervisory functions" and any report prepared by the new AGW on them must be laid before the Assembly.

Chapter 2 – Welsh Ministers, National Assembly Commission and other Welsh Public Bodies

138. The intention of Chapter 2, clauses 28 to 48 is to bring the provisions relating to the new AGW's audit of accounts, value for money (Vfm) examinations into one place in respect of the devolved public sector in Wales (other than local government which is dealt with separately in Chapter 3 of Part 2). In addition to that consolidation, the clauses are also designed to simplify, clarify and/or modify the existing legislation applicable to the current AGW's financial audit and Vfm functions etc. Much of the basis for those functions can be found in sections 131 to 142 of the 2006 Act and in sections 144 to 146A of and Schedule 17 to the Government of Wales Act 1998 (the 1998 Act). The intention is to repeal those provisions and restate or replace them with a new regime by the provisions in clauses 28 to 48. There are three reasons for that.

139. The first is that Schedule 17 has not been regularly updated and is already out of date: in a number of respects accounts and audit etc provisions have been created in separate enactments establishing bodies that are subject to the current AGW's remit. Secondly, the current provisions are based on a wide power for the Welsh Ministers to make provision about accounts and audit whereas the intention now is to have a single, standard provision applying to most audits and Vfm examinations carried out by the new AGW. Thirdly, section 144 of and Schedule 17 to the 1998 Act are not clear in their operation for the following reasons:

- Part 1 of Schedule 17 refers to bodies that are subject "generally" to "audit etc." provisions but there is no clear explanation of what "generally" means in that context;
- Part 2 of Schedule 17 refers to bodies that are "partially" subject to "audit etc." provisions which, again is not clear; and
- Part 3 of Schedule 17 refers to examinations in relation to the use of resources and although section 145 of the 1998 Act clearly envisages that this is the case, there is no clear provision in section 144 that enables provision to be made about economy, efficiency and effectiveness examinations. Furthermore, it is not clear whether such an examination is limited to an analysis of the 'accounts' or whether the current AGW is required to look at the accounts and other matters in order to reach a view on Vfm.

140. The intention is, so far as practicable, to introduce a new audit provision and a new Vfm provision that will set out in each case the requirements relating to financial audit and Vfm examinations respectively and which will apply where a person or body is within the new AGW' remit (other than local government bodies which are dealt with separately in Chapter 3). In addition there will be a need to ensure that as matters change in the future, persons, bodies or offices can be added to the new regime or removed and where their description alters it can be amended. It is considered that the best way of achieving that is to have a list system with those on it subject to the single audit and single Vfm provisions.

141. The proposed streamlined provisions for financial audit and Vfm examinations would bring significant consistency in the requirements placed on all of the bodies subject to the new AGW's remit, so too the matters that the new AGW will have to consider and be satisfied about. The revised duties and powers would be the principal means by which any new bodies are brought within the new AGW's remit thereby avoiding any future financial audit and Vfm provisions being scattered about the legislation.

142. This new structure and the power in clause 46 to add to, remove from or alter the description of persons subject to the single audit and therefore the single Vfm regime is intended to be the principal means by which any new persons, bodies or offices are brought within the new AGW's remit thereby avoiding any future financial audit and Vfm provisions being scattered about the legislation.

Question 32: Do you agree, in principle, with streamlining the provisions relating to the new AGW's financial audit and Vfm functions?

Clauses 28 To 36 – Audit of Accounts and General Provisions Relating to Audit of Bodies under this Chapter

Clause 28: Welsh Ministers

143. This clause proposes the accounting and related requirements to be placed on the Welsh Ministers in accordance with directions given by the Treasury. The Welsh Ministers must:

- keep proper accounts and records in relation to them; and
- prepare a statement of accounts.

144. The statement of accounts must be submitted to the new AGW no later than the 30 November in the year following the financial year to which they relate and they must include details of the financial affairs and transactions of the Counsel General and the First Minister

Clause 29: National Assembly Commission

145. This clause contains the accounting and related requirements to be placed on the Assembly Commission in accordance with directions given by the Treasury and by when, for each year, the Commission's statement of accounts must be submitted to the new AGW.

Clause 30: Other Welsh public bodies

146. This clause is a key part of the proposed single financial audit provision. The other key elements of this new regime are in clauses 37, 38 and 39. It sets out the accounting and related requirements to be placed on a Welsh public body (see Table 1) in accordance with directions given to it by the directing authority. The directing authority is the Treasury, the Welsh Ministers or the Welsh Ministers with the consent of the Treasury as the case may be. The body's statement of accounts for each financial year must be submitted to the new AGW no later than the date of the corresponding entry for that body in column 3 of Table 1 and, where applicable, to the Welsh Ministers by the same date.

Question 33: What are your views on the proposals in clauses 28 to 30?

Clause 31: Public bodies subject to audit under clause 30: limitations

147. This clause will provide for limitations on the provisions of clause 30 in respect of charitable or non-charitable trusts (where a Welsh NHS body is a trustee) and the Forestry Commissioners.

Clause 32: Audit of summarised accounts of Welsh NHS bodies

148. This clause generally replicates current legislation on Welsh NHS summarised accounts but does so in the context of the streamlined regime for audit etc. proposed in this Bill. Therefore clauses 38 and 39 will apply to these accounts as they apply in other cases (e.g. to public bodies listed in Table 1).

Clause 33: Audit of accounts of officers of Welsh NHS bodies

149. This clause generally replicates current legislation in this respect but does so in the context of the streamlined regime for audit etc. proposed in this Bill. Therefore clauses 37, 38 and 39 will apply to these accounts as they apply in other cases (e.g. to public bodies listed in Table 1).

Clause 34: Audit of higher and further education corporations

150. This clause brings the accounts and audit requirements in relation to higher education corporations in Wales (HECs) and further education corporations in Wales (FECs) more into line with the streamlined provisions set out in this Bill. However, neither a HEC nor a FEC will be required to submit its statement of accounts to the new AGW for audit purposes, but they may choose to do so. Should a HEC or FEC decide not to choose the new AGW, it must consult him or her and take into account his or her views before appointing a suitably qualified person to be its auditor.

151. At the request of the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales (HEFCW) the new AGW may give advice to it on any direction the HEFCW may wish to give to a HEC.

152. Clauses 37 and 38 will also apply to HECs and FECs and clause 39 will also apply if any HEC or FEC chooses the new AGW to be its auditor for any financial year.

Clause 35: Audit of further and higher education corporations: powers of the AGW

153. This clause will enable the AGW, at the request of a FEC or HEC, to advise on the appointment of a its auditor, or to undertake the audit of a corporation's annual accounts.

Question 34: Should the new AGW be the statutory auditor of HECs and/or FECs?

Clause 36: Meaning of further and higher education corporations

154. This clause defines the meaning of a FEC and a HEC and associated references to the Education Acts.

Clause 37: Content of accounts and statement of accounts

155. This clause will provide a single requirement that will apply to the accounts and statement of accounts of the Welsh Ministers, the Assembly Commission, other Welsh public bodies, FECs, HECs and officers of NHS bodies so that they are to give a true and fair account of the state of their affairs at the end of the financial year and of their income and expenditure in the financial year..

Clause 38: Directions relating to accounts and statement of accounts

156. This clause proposes to empower directing authorities to issue, amend or revoke directions in relation to the accounts and statement of accounts of the Welsh Ministers, the Assembly Commission, other Welsh public bodies, FECs, HECs, Welsh Ministers in respect of NHS summarised accounts, officers of NHS bodies. Directions may include but are not limited to: financial transactions; information; presentation; preparation; and any additional information that may be required. Directions by the Treasury in respect of the Public Services Ombudsman for Wales may relate to the accounts and statement of accounts of persons other than the Ombudsman,

Clause 39: Functions of the Auditor General: audit of accounts

157. This clause will place a requirement on the new AGW (subject to the limitations in clause 32) to examine and certify any statement of accounts submitted to him or her by the person or body subject to audit – i.e. the Welsh Ministers, the Assembly Commission, the public bodies in clause 30, the Welsh Ministers in respect of NHS summarised accounts, officers of NHS bodies and with regard to FECs and HECs if the new AGW is chosen as their auditor for any financial year.

158. The clause will also require the new AGW to lay before the Assembly, no later than 4 months after the statement of accounts are submitted, a copy of the statement of accounts certified by the new AGW together with his or her report on them.

159. From an examination of the statement of accounts submitted, the new AGW will have to be satisfied that:

- expenditure incurred is lawful and authorised;
- money received has been spent on the intended purpose or purposes;
- they comply with all statutory provisions applicable to them; and
- proper practices have been observed in compiling them.

160. The new AGW must also consider whether the person or body subject to audit has made proper arrangements for securing value for money in the use of its resources.

Clause 40: Functions of the Auditor General: economy, efficiency and effectiveness examinations

161. This clause is the proposed single Vfm provision. It removes the uncertainties in the current legislation in Schedule 17 to the 1998 Act which have been described above. It will enable the new AGW to carry out Vfm examinations and make recommendations in respect of the economy, efficiency, and effectiveness with which a person listed in subsection (4) has discharged its functions or used its resources in so doing.

162. There is a power for the new AGW to carry out examination into (and make recommendations about) the provision of services by persons listed in subsection (4).

163. In carrying out such examinations and making recommendations the new AGW will not be entitled to question the merits of the policy objectives of the person who is the subject of the examination.

164. The clause will also provide for limitations on such examinations in respect of charitable or non-charitable trusts where a Welsh NHS body is a trustee and the Forestry Commissioners.

Clause 41: Additional persons subject to examination

165. This provision will identify other persons, additional to those listed in clause 40 (4) (i.e. those who fall within the streamlined audit structure), who may in certain circumstances be subject to an examination by the new AGW in respect of Vfm or service provision under the provisions in clause 40(1) .

Clause 42: Education bodies subject to examination upon request

166. This clause will provide for an education body in Table 2, at the request of its corresponding authority (listed in column 2 of the Table), to be subject to a Vfm examination by the new AGW under the provisions in clause 40(1),

167. The Welsh Government notes that the references to training provider and Training and Training Development Agency for Schools in section 145B of the 1998 Act (on which this provision is based) are to be repealed. Those repeals are not yet in force but the Welsh Government will take this into account when the Bill is introduced.

Clause 43: Views of the Assembly's Public Accounts Committee

168. This clause will require the new AGW to take into account the views of the PAC in deciding how a Vfm examination under clause 40 should be undertaken.

Clause 44: Reports on examinations

169. This provision will enable the new AGW in all cases to lay a report before the Assembly on the outcome of his or her Vfm examination including the new AGW's recommendations, if any, flowing from it.

Clause 45: Reports in the public interest

170. This clause will empower the new AGW to issue reports in the public interest and requires such reports to be laid before the Assembly.

171. Reports may include matters relating to the new AGW's financial audit functions in respect of Welsh public bodies set out in clauses 28, 29, 30, 32, 33 and 35 and/or the new AGW's Vfm examination functions as in clauses 40, 41 and 42. Therefore this power will apply to a wider range of persons than is currently the case.

Clause 46: Amending the list of public bodies subject to audit or examination#

172. This provision will enable Welsh Ministers, by order, to add or remove or alter the description of public bodies subject to the new AGW's financial audit under clause 30 (and, therefore also to Vfm examinations). Before any change the Welsh Ministers must consult the body and any others as the Ministers consider appropriate, but they may not remove the bodies listed in subsection (3) The power of the Welsh Ministers will be limited to provisions within the competence of the Assembly or to the situation where a person exercises functions or carries on activities with respect to matters that relate to the functions of the Welsh Government. The latter is to cover those things which are regarded as 'devolved' in Wales (and in respect of which the Welsh Ministers etc. have functions) but which do not fall within the current scope of the Assembly's legislative competence – e.g. building regulations.

173. An order under this provision may include any modification that the Ministers consider appropriate; examples of the sorts of permissible modifications are set out in subsection (5) and are related and are limited to matters about accounts, audit and Vfm. The modifications can include (but will not be limited to) matters relating to the body's accounts; preparation of its accounts; financial audit and Vfm examinations; accounts of subsidiaries; directions by Welsh Ministers; publication and inspection of documents; and the new AGW's rights of access to documents and information etc.. An order under this clause can relate to all or only some of the body's functions or funding – e.g. see the limitations in respect of how the Forestry Commissioners are dealt with in clause 31(2).

174. Any modifications to functions of the C&AG could only be made in such an order if the Secretary of State consents.

175. An order under this clause could not be made by the Welsh Ministers unless they first lay a draft of it before the Assembly for scrutiny and that draft is approved by a resolution of the Assembly.

176. Such an order can only make modifications to this Bill (or Act as it would be) if that is “in connection with, for the purpose of, or in consequence of” adding a person, removing them or altering their description in the list in Table 1 in clause 30 – e.g. bringing a person within the AGW's audit remit.

177. The Welsh Government intends “person” in subsection (1) to cover individuals, legal persons and bodies (e.g. corporate bodies) and office-holders whether that person is created by or has functions in legislation or under a prerogative instrument (e.g. Royal Charter).

Question 36: Please details any bodies or offices established under prerogative instruments such as Royal Warrants or Charters that you think should be included in the list in Table 1 in clause 30

Clause 47: Power of Welsh Ministers to make provision about reports

178. This clause will enable the Welsh Ministers to make provision by order about reports (e.g. annual reports) in respect of public bodies listed in Table 1 in clause 30. Certain bodies are excluded from this power – subsection (2).

Clause 48: Power to designate accounting officers

179. This clause will enable the Welsh Ministers to make provision by order for the Permanent Secretary to the Welsh Government (as Principal Accounting Officer) to designate Accounting Officers (and their responsibilities) to public bodies listed in Table 1 in clause 30 or in respect of any person who could be added to that list by an order under clause 46. This can extend to the designation (and specification of responsibilities) of additional accounting officers but only by the Permanent Secretary or with his or her consent. This power does not extend to designating accounting officers in respect of the Welsh Ministers, National Assembly Commission or the bodies listed in clause 48(5). The requirements for accounting officers in respect of those bodies are already set out in legislation.

CHAPTER 3 – WELSH LOCAL GOVERNMENT

180. Part of the intention behind the Bill's proposals is to consolidate, as far as practicable, the legislation relating to the current AGW and the audit, examination and inspection etc of devolved bodies in Wales. The aim of that, alongside the general policy of the Bill, is to make it easier for the reader to find the relevant provisions in the statute book whilst avoiding changes to existing enactments that would create more rather than less complexity. It is considered that one of the main sets of provisions that ought to be consolidated and modified are those in the 2004 Act. To that end Chapter 3, clauses 49 to 78 make provision about the accounts and audit of local government bodies in Wales and related matters, the broad intention being to repeal and restate, with some modifications, provisions in Part 2 of the 2004 Act in this Bill.

181. The Welsh Government is considering how inconsistencies between Chapter 3 and the rest of the Bill as currently drafted should be dealt with. For example, the Welsh Government has taken the view that in Chapter 2 "examination" can include "study" and that "carrying out" one or more examinations covers provisions that currently refer to "undertaking an examination" or "undertaking a programme of studies". However, there is some inconsistency because of that in the terminology between Chapter 2 and Chapter 3 and the Welsh Government will be considering this further before the Bill is introduced in the Assembly.

Clause 49: Local government bodies

182. This clause updates and defines the meaning of "local government body", lists them and empowers the Welsh Ministers, by order, to add, omit or amend them.

183. The list of local government bodies in Wales is based on section 12 of the 2004 Act. That list has been amended by the Police and Social Responsibility Act 2011 but these amendments are not yet in force although the Welsh Government understands that they will be brought into force later this year. The current list in the Bill is drafted as if those amendments were in force but the Welsh Government will keep this under review and it may be that on introduction of the Bill in the Assembly the list will need to reflect section 12 of the 2004 Act without the amendments made by the 2011 Act.

184. The Welsh Government is considering whether the power to amend the list should replicate section 12(2) and (3) of the 2004 Act.

Clause 50: Audit of accounts of local government bodies

185. This clause requires a local government body to prepare its annual accounts and for the new AGW to audit them.

186. At present the AGW is not directly responsible for the audit of local government bodies, instead those audits are performed by auditors appointed by the current AGW. This is considered to be anachronistic and, given that the current AGW has other functions (e.g. in relation to value for money) in respect of local government bodies, is responsible for auditing the Welsh Government, Welsh NHS bodies etc, and the thrust of other proposals in the Bill, the time is now right for the audit of local government bodies in Wales to be vested with the new AGW.

187. An audit of the accounts of a local government body in Wales will still be carried out in accordance with accounts and audit regulations – see later.

Question 37: Do you agree that the new AGW is to be the auditor of local government bodies in Wales?

Clause 51: General duties on audit of accounts

188. This clause sets out the general duties of the new AGW in relation to what he or she must be satisfied with in respect of a financial audit of a local government body. This includes looking at the body's arrangements for securing value for money. In this respect a change is proposed so that the new AGW need only consider whether proper arrangements for securing Vfm are in place rather than placing the new AGW under a duty to satisfy himself or herself that there are proper arrangements. The focus is on audit in these provisions. A duty to "satisfy" is more onerous than one to "consider". Given that the new AGW will be the statutory auditor of local government bodies in Wales and will have available to him/her the ability to carry out fuller Vfm examinations or studies in respect of local government bodies in Wales it is felt appropriate that when carrying out a financial audit the new AGW is required only to "consider" whether the body has proper arrangements for securing Vfm in place.

Question 38: Do you agree with the general audit duties (including consideration of Vfm arrangements) to be placed on the new AGW?

Clauses 52 to 58: AGW reports and consideration of them

189. These provisions largely restate the equivalent provisions in the 2004 Act.

190. A change is proposed, however, in respect of additional publicity for immediate and non-immediate reports (clauses 57 and 58). The change is to place the local government body under a duty to publish a copy of the report on its website (if it has one) – see clause 57(3)(c) and 58(2) respectively.

Clauses 59 to 61: Public inspection and objection etc and action by AGW

191. These broadly restate the equivalent provisions in the 2004 Act

192. Clause 61 deals with the right of a local government elector to make objections at audit and the change that is proposed here is to enable objections to be made in writing as well as (as currently) in person.

Clauses 63 to 69: Prevention of unlawful expenditure

193. These clauses restate equivalent provisions, sections 33 to 39 in the 2004 Act, with some minor modifications. For example, references to “auditor” in the 2004 provisions are now in this Bill to be references to the new AGW with any reference to an auditor sending a document to the new AGW not required.

194. In clause 64(8) there is a change so that expenses incurred in respect of advisory notices are to be recovered by the new WAO and not the new AGW.

195. In clause 67(2) and (3) a change has been made so that the new AGW is no longer directed by the Welsh Ministers. Instead it is felt more appropriate (given the new AGW’s complete discretion) that instead the new AGW can be requested to conduct an extraordinary order but may refuse to do so only if the request is unreasonable. The reasonableness test is intended to be objective.

Clauses 70 to 73: Value for money

196. These provisions restate the equivalent provisions in the 2004 Act.

197. Clause 70(1)(a) does not refer to local government bodies in Wales that are best value authorities for the purpose of Part 1 of the Local Government Act 1999 because the Welsh Government understands that by the time this Bill is introduced, with the changes brought in by the Police and Social Responsibility Act 2011, there will no longer be any local government bodies in Wales falling within Part 1 of the 1999 Act.

Question 39: In relation to clause 70 – will something of significance be lost if the Bill on introduction does not include provision for “promoting” studies?

Question 40: In your view, is there any real difference in this respect between an “examination” and a “study”?
---

198. The draft Bill refers, in a number of places to the Audit Commission. The UK Government proposes to abolish that body. The Welsh Government will keep this situation under review so that the Bill makes appropriate references at the point that it is introduced in the Assembly.

Clauses 74 to 77: Performance standards

199. These clauses restate sections 46 to 49 in the 2004 Act, with some modifications.

200. In clause 73 reference is made to an entity under the control of a local authority because of amendments made under provisions in the Local Government and Public Involvement in Health Act 2007 to the equivalent provisions in the 2004 Act. These provisions are not yet in force in the 2004 Act and the Welsh Government will keep this under review in preparation for the introduction of this Bill in the Assembly

Clause 78: Interpretation of Chapter 3

201. This clause sets out the meaning of “local government elector” and the application of that definition to a National Park in Wales that is a local planning authority.

CHAPTER 4 – DATA MATCHING

Clauses 79 to 85

202. These clauses restate the provisions in Part 3A of the 2004 Act (as inserted by the Serious Crime Act 2007), with minor modifications.

Clauses 79 to 83

203. These clauses relate to the power to conduct data matching exercises, the mandatory and voluntary provision of data, the disclosure of results and the publication of reports in respect of data matching exercises.

Clause 84: Code of data matching practice

204. This clause provides that the new AGW is to prepare and keep under review a code of practice on data matching exercises. He or she must lay code before the Assembly and publish it. The new AGW and those participating in data matching exercises are required to have regard to the code.

Clause 85: Powers of the Secretary of State

205. This clause enables the Secretary of State, by order, to amend the purposes of data matching in Wales, to add or omit a public body from the list at clause 80(2) and to modify the application of data matching provisions in Chapter 4 of this Bill to a body added to that list,

Question 41: Should there be a separate code for data matching or would it be more appropriate as a section within the Code of Audit Practice described at clause 87?

Question 42: Should the Secretary of State’s power under clause 85 be subject to a requirement to consult with or obtain the consent of the Welsh Ministers where it affects devolved matters in Wales?
---

Chapter 5 – Functions of the AGW: Supplementary

Clause 86: Certification of claims, returns etc

206. This clause restates the equivalent provisions in Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act in respect of the new AGW's duty to certify certain claims, returns, accounts and calculations at the request of defined public sector bodies in Wales, any Minister of the Crown or public authority established by the EU Treaties or any enactment.

Clause 87: Code of audit practice

207. At present, section 16 of the 2004 Act enables the AGW to prepare a code of audit practice which must be ratified by the Assembly in the first instance and is subject to annulment procedure by either House of the UK Parliament. The provision also states that Assembly cannot delegate the function of ratifying the Code although that provision is an irregular hangover from the time when under the 1998 Act the Assembly was a corporate body and able to delegate its functions to Ministers.

208. At the time of the 2004 Act the UK Parliament's role was considered necessary to satisfy or protect local government bodies in Wales (i.e. protection by one tier of democratically elected members from interference by the devolved executive which at that time was comprised within the corporate body that was the National Assembly for Wales under the 1998 Act). It is likely that the UK Parliament's role stemmed originally only from the 1998 Act when the Assembly was a corporate body and its 'executive' arm could have exerted undue influence over the content of the Code. It is now considered that with the legal separation of the Welsh Government and the Assembly there should be no function for the UK Parliament.

209. The intention of this clause is for the new AGW to have a duty rather than a power to prepare a Code setting out the embodiment of best professional practice in relation to standards, procedures and techniques to be adopted by him or her and those assisting him or her in the exercise of functions; and for the Code to set out how those practices are to be applied to all of the new AGW's financial audit and Vfm functions. The new AGW will also be required to consult such persons as he or she thinks fit before issuing the Code or any revision of it and this would include, for example, local government bodies in Wales or their representatives given that the code will apply also to the new AGW's functions under Part 2, Chapter 3 of this Bill. The new AGW must arrange for the Code to be published.

210. The new AGW and those assisting him or her in the exercise of functions will be bound by the Code and as the new AGW's independence is to be restated and bolstered by proposals in this Bill it is considered no longer appropriate for the Code to be subject to the Assembly's approval.

211. The Welsh Government will be considering (together with any consultation responses on the issue) whether the provisions of the Bill relating to making the code can be made more consistent with the similar provisions in relation to the code of data matching practice.

Question 43: What are your views on the Assembly no longer being empowered to approve the new AGW's code of audit practise?

Question 44: Should there be a duty on the new AGW to lay his/her code of audit practice before the Assembly?

Question 45: Should the code apply to the new AGW's certification etc. functions under clause 86 and/or the new AGW's rights of access to documents etc. under clauses 88 and 89?

Clause 88: Rights to documents and information

212. This clause will provide the new AGW with rights of access, at all reasonable times, to every document relating a public body which appears to the new AGW to be necessary for the purposes of carrying out his or her functions in respect of that body under Chapters 1 to 4 Part 2 of this Bill. The effect of the clause will be a single provision conferring wide rights on the new AGW to access documents and information etc, held by any public body within his or her audit remit and to follow public money wherever it goes.

213. The provision amalgamates the new AGW's powers of access to documents – i.e. principally those relating to the Welsh Government, NHS bodies, Welsh Government Sponsored bodies (currently in paragraph 17 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act) and that applying to local government bodies in Wales (currently in sections 52 and 53 of the 2004 Act).

214. Sub-sections (3) (a) and (b) will enable the new AGW to have access to documents in a financial chain relating to the use of public money, documents held or controlled by anyone who has received financial assistance from a Part 2 public body or who has supplied goods or services to the body under a contract, or who has been a sub-contractor in relation to such a contract. The aim of this provision is to ensure that the new AGW will have the widest power to examine regularity, propriety and the principles of Vfm as they apply to the use of public money at each stage of the expenditure chain. This is limited of course by subsection (1) in that the new AGW only has a right of access to, say, a document that is in the hands of a sole trader if that would be “necessary” for the exercise of the new AGW's financial audit or Vfm functions in respect of a person or body falling within the new AGW's remit.

215. Sub-section (2) (c) will empower the Welsh Ministers, by order, to extend the categories of documents that the new AGW can access if that ever is necessary

216. In addition to access to documents and rights, the new AGW will have under sub-sections (5) to (8), the right to require and receive any assistance, information and explanation he or she considers necessary to carry out his or her functions under Chapters 1 to 4 of Part 2 of this Bill from

- a public body subject to those in Part 2 of this Bill;
- a document to which the new AGW has a right of access; and

- a person who holds or controls such a document.

217. This power includes, for example, the provision of facilities to the new AGW – e.g. access to computers, telephones and in some cases access to computer hardware and software to enable the new AGW to access information that is relevant to an audit or examination he or she is conducting.

Question 46: What are your views on there be a single provision covering the new AGW's rights of access to documents and information within the public sector?

Clause 89: Rights to documents and information: offences

218. This clause will set out the offences if the requirements of sub –section 88 (5) are not complied with

219. The significant change here is that this offence will apply not only where the new AGW exercises his or her right of access to documents and information in respect of local government bodies in Wales (as is the case now – see section 53 of the 2004 Act) but to any case where the new AGW exercises the new power.

Question 47: Should the offence provision apply in any case where the new AGW exercises the power to access documents etc. and not only in local government cases?

Clause 90: References of matters related to social security to Secretary of State

220. This clause restates section 51 of the 2004 Act and will empower the new AGW to refer to the Secretary of State (in practice the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions) matters arising from work undertaken under Chapter 3 of this Bill if he or she considers it relevant to the Secretary of State's functions in respect of social security. It also enables the new AGW to send a copy of any report made by him or her under section 52 which contains observations on the administration by a local authority in respect of housing benefit or council tax benefit.

221. The Welsh Government is aware of the UK Government's proposals to abolish council tax benefit and this matter will be monitored for the purpose of this Bill's introduction in the Assembly.

Clause 91: Benefit administration studies for Secretary of State

222. This clause will restate section 45 of the 2004 Act and will enable the AGW, at the request of the Secretary of State, to carry out or assist the Secretary of State in conducting examinations designed to improve economy etc, and the quality of performance in the administration of housing benefit or council tax benefit functions by one or more local authorities in Wales. The new AGW will only be able to participate where the Secretary of State has agreed to pay the new WAO a reasonable fee in respect of any examination.

Clause 92: Restriction on disclosure of information

223. This clause will restate section 54 of the 2004 Act and place restrictions on the disclosure of certain information relating to a particular body or person. The restrictions are to apply where information is acquired by the new AGW in the exercise of his or her functions under Chapter 3 of this Bill or Part 1 of the Local Government (Wales) Measure 2009 or in the course of an examination under clause 40 of this Bill in respect of a registered social landlord in Wales. The information is not to be disclosed unless it is in accordance with the exceptions listed in sub-sections (2), (3) and (4). Disclosing the information in contravention of section 92 will constitute an offence under sub-section (6).

Clause 93: Consent under clause 92

224. This clause restates section 54ZA of the 2004 Act and will set out the steps that must be taken to in respect of obtaining consent under clause 92 (4).

Clause 94: Supply of benefit information by Secretary of State to Auditor General

225. This clause restates section 55 of the 2004 Act and will enable the Secretary of State (in practice the Secretary of State for Work and Pensions) to supply the new AGW with information in respect of housing benefit and council tax benefit that he or she considers relevant to the new AGW's functions.

Clause 95: Documents relating to police authorities [police and crime commissioners and chief constables]

226. This provision restates section 40 of the 2004 Act. That section is amended by the Police and Social Responsibility Act 2011 and the amendments are likely to come into force later this year. The amendments will replace the references to police authorities with references to, for example, police and crime commissioners. The clause in the Bill has been drafted to reflect these proposed changes.

227. Should the new AGW make a public interest report in respect of a police authority [police and crime commissioner or chief constables] for a police area in Wales then this clause will require him or her to send a copy of that report to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers.

228. Where the new AGW has sent a document or a copy of a document to one or more police authorities, [police and crime commissioners or chief constables], the new AGW will be able to send a copy of the document to the Secretary of State and the Welsh Ministers.

Clause 96: Provision of information to Audit Commission

229. This clause restates section 57 of the 2004 Act. Its purpose is to facilitate cross-border comparisons between bodies and sectors, with the aim of raising standards in both England and Wales. The clause requires the new AGW to provide the Audit Commission (AC), if it so requests, with information to enable it to make comparisons between local government bodies in Wales and other local government bodies in respect of which the AC has functions under sections 33 and 34 of the Audit Commission Act 1998 (to undertake or promote studies for improving economy etc in services and studies on the impact of statutory provisions etc).

230. An equivalent duty is already placed on the Audit Commission in that Act.

Part 3 - Miscellaneous and General

Clause 97: Comptroller and Auditor General

231. This provides for the Comptroller and Auditor General (C&AG) to consult the new AGW and take into account any relevant work being done or done by the new AGW before the C&AG carries out a Vfm examination under section 6 or 7 of the National Audit Act 1983.

Clause 98: Indemnification

232. This clause provides that any compensation to a third party for a breach of a duty (e.g. in contract or negligence) by the new AGW (and a former AGW appointed under this Bill), the new WAO (and its former or current members, employees or providers of services) is to be charged on and paid from the WCF, i.e., is not to be subject to the approval of the Assembly in a Budget resolution.

Clause 99: Orders and regulations

233. This clause makes further provision about Orders and regulations that may be made under the Bill's provisions. They are to be made by statutory instrument and will therefore also be subject to the Statutory Instruments Act 1946. Provision is made for orders and regulations to be subject to either affirmative Assembly procedure or negative Assembly procedure. Affirmative procedure means that the subordinate legislation cannot be made unless a draft of it is first laid before and then approved by the Assembly. Negative procedure means that the subordinate legislation can be made (and sometimes brought into force) but must be laid before the Assembly and the Assembly normally has 40 days in which it can decide to disagree to the subordinate legislation. If the Assembly disagrees by resolution to the subordinate legislation then it will generally cease to have any further effect.

234. In this Bill the Welsh Government has sought to keep the number of subordinate legislation making powers to the minimum. The vast majority of such powers in this Bill are restated from existing legislation and are not new.

235. The Welsh Government will be giving further consideration to whether the provisions can be rationalised to a greater extent. In drafting this Bill the Welsh Government has been aware of the concerns expressed by committees of the Assembly in respect of the balance of provisions on the face of primary legislation and those to be included in subordinate legislation at a later date.

236. In drafting this Bill (and when preparing the Bill for introduction in the Assembly) the Welsh Government has been and will continue to be very mindful of the necessity for members of the public and democratically elected members of the Assembly to be able to scrutinise from the face of the Bill itself all of the main structural and operative provisions. Furthermore, it is the Welsh Government's intention, so far as is reasonably practicable, to include, on introduction, on the face of the Bill all of the consequential, transitional and savings provisions that will be required to both primary and secondary legislation. If the Welsh Government seeks powers in this Bill on introduction to make subordinate legislation in respect of consequential and transitional etc. provisions that will be on the basis of providing a safety net to ensure that unforeseen consequences etc. can be dealt with.

237. Furthermore, the Welsh Government is concerned to ensure that powers to make subordinate legislation that enable the Welsh Ministers to modify or repeal provisions of primary legislation are limited and targeted and go no wider than is reasonably necessary to fulfil the purpose of making sure that the intention of this Bill (if passed by the Assembly) can be carried fully into effect. To that end the Welsh Government will consider (with any consultation responses received) whether the provisions as drafted in this respect are satisfactory and whether an appropriate Assembly procedure has been applied to their exercise (see further below on clause 101).

Clause 100: Directions

238. This clause makes further provision in respect of the powers conferred in this Bill on Welsh Ministers etc. to issue directions. This provision enables flexibility so that a direction may accommodate different circumstances.

Clause 101: Interpretation

239. Definitions of terms used within the Bill are provided within this clause

240. As stated above the Welsh Government is concerned to ensure that powers to make subordinate legislation are targeted and appropriate. Therefore, during the consultation and in preparation for the introduction of the Bill in the Assembly the Welsh Government will be considering, in particular, (along with any consultation responses on this point) the definition of “enactment”. For example, it is not the intention of the Welsh Government to seek sweeping powers to amend the provisions in this Act although, of course, some ability to make targeted amendments of this Act will be needed in respect of the power under clause 46 of this Bill.

Clause 102 and Schedule 4: Transitional and supplementary provisions

241. Subject to the outcome of the consultation, the intention here is to set out, in a Schedule to the Bill, the transitional and savings provisions that will be required to move from the current position (e.g. where all functions are vested in the current AGW) to the new system where, for example, the corporate-type functions will pass to the new WAO. There will be provision, therefore, for functions to pass from the current AGW to the new WAO and the usual provisions relating to continuity in the exercise of those functions; for property, rights and liabilities to pass from the current AGW to the new WAO and for things that are done by the current AGW in the exercise of functions currently vested in the current AGW to be regarded as having been done by the new WAO once those functions transfer to the new WAO.

242. Staff of the current AGW will transfer to the employment of the new WAO and so too will contracts of employment so that, for example, in law the new WAO will become the employer of those staff. The transfer of staff will be in accordance with the Cabinet’s Office Statement of Practice on Staff Transfers and provision will be made so that the transfer of employment will be on no less favourable terms than would be the case if TUPE applied. The Welsh Government will also liaise with the current AGW in respect of the pension rights of employees of the current AGW.

Clause 103 and Schedule 5: Repeals and consequential amendments

243. This clause and Schedule 5 will on introduction of the Bill in the Assembly set out the repeals and consequential modifications to primary and secondary legislation to give effect to the final proposals for the Bill. These will, for example, simply ensure that there are references to the new AGW, or to the new WAO as appropriate, when reference was previously to the current AGW.

Clause 104: Commencement

244. This provision relates to when the Act (if it is agreed by the National Assembly for Wales) will come into force. It is intended that the Bill once enacted will be fully in force by 1 April 2013 although some technical provisions may be brought into force upon Royal Assent]

Clause 105: Short title

245. The short title of the Act is to be the “Public Audit (Wales) Act 2013”.

Sustainable Development

246. Although there are no proposals on the face of this Bill relating to sustainable development, the Welsh Government’s “Programme for Government” (September 2011) contains a commitment to:

- legislate to make sustainable development the central organising principle of the Welsh Government and devolved public bodies in Wales; and
- create an independent sustainable development body for Wales.

247. Some public bodies in Wales already have statutory functions in relation to sustainable development. For example, the Environment Agency must comply with Welsh Ministers’ guidance about the contribution that the Agency must make towards attaining the objective of achieving sustainable development and local improvement authorities in Wales must set themselves continuous improvement objectives which can include objectives designed to contribute towards the achievement of sustainable development. Some public sector bodies in Wales have voluntarily signed the Sustainable Development Charter which commits them to making sustainable development the central organising principle in how they make decisions and carry out their work.

248. While there will be a public consultation later this year on proposals in legislation to strengthen the Welsh Government’s approach to sustainable development in the public sector in Wales, views are welcome now on whether the new AGW should have an express duty to examine sustainable development in the Welsh public sector, and on whether such a duty should be included in this Bill or the later in a Bill relating to sustainable development.

249. By way of illustration only, examinations by the new AGW might address matters such as the degree to which public bodies engage with people and communities in the decisions that affect them; the degree to which public bodies may have procedures in place to allow broader social, economic and environmental impacts to be identified in their decision making processes; and the identification of opportunities for public bodies to make a greater contribution to sustainable development.

Question 48: In principle, should the new AGW should have an express duty to carry out sustainable development examinations?

Question 49: If you do not agree with the principle, please explain why

Question 50: If you do agree with the principle, do you think that the duty should be proposed in this Bill or later in legislation relating specifically to sustainable development?

Timetable

250. We would welcome comments on this consultation document until 15 May 2012. Following consideration of the consultation responses, a Bill will be introduced in the National Assembly for Wales by the Welsh Government during 2012

BUDGET RESPONSIBILITY AND NATIONAL AUDIT BILL

WRITTEN STATEMENT

22 October 2010

Jane Hutt, Minister for Business and Budget

The Budget Responsibility and National Audit Bill was introduced into the House of Lords on 21 October 2010.

The Assembly Government has taken the opportunity that this Bill presents to confer legislative competence on the National Assembly for Wales relating to the governance arrangements for the Auditor General for Wales.

The Bill contains provisions to:

- introduce a Charter for Budget Responsibility;
- publish Financial Statements and Budget Reports;
- establish the Office for Budgetary Responsibility;
- make provision for the Comptroller and Auditor General (C&AG);
- create a new corporate structure for the National Audit Office (NAO);
- amend Schedules 5 and 7 to the Government of Wales Act 2006 in relation to the Auditor General for Wales.

Subject to enactment, Schedule 6 of the Bill amends Schedules 5 and 7 to the Government of Wales Act 2006 (“the 2006 Act”) to confer legislative competence on the National Assembly for Wales in relation to the Auditor General for Wales (AGW). That competence will enable the Assembly to legislate, by Assembly Measure, or should the referendum produce a “yes” vote, by Assembly Act on the governance and accountability arrangements for the AGW.

Paragraphs 2 to 4 of Schedule 6 amend Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act, which deals with the Assembly’s competence to pass legislation known as Assembly Measures under Part 3 of the 2006 Act.

Paragraph 3 of Schedule 6 inserts a new Matter (14.1) in the Field of Public Administration in Part 1 of Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act. Part 1 sets out the “Matters” in relation to which the Assembly can legislate. The competence conferred by Matter 14.1 would enable an Assembly Measure to make certain kinds of provision in relation to the AGW, for example to put in place new governance arrangements for the AGW. The provision made by the Assembly could be similar to that set out elsewhere in Part 2 of the Bill in relation to the C&AG and the NAO.

Paragraph 4 of Schedule 6 amends Part 2 of Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act, which sets out restrictions on the Assembly’s competence to pass Assembly Measures. The amendments provide for exceptions to the prohibitions on Assembly Measures being able to modify certain provisions of the Government of Wales Act 1998 (“the 1998 Act”) and the 2006 Act, and will enable those Acts to be amended by Assembly Measure if the purpose of the amendment is about putting in place arrangements relating to governance of the AGW. The amendments also include provisions to protect the AGW’s independence from the Assembly and Welsh Assembly Government.

Paragraphs 5 to 7 of Schedule 6 amend Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act, which deals with the Assembly’s competence to pass legislation known as Assembly Acts under Part 4 of the 2006 Act. Under sections 103 and 105 of the 2006 Act, the “Assembly Act provisions” enabling the Assembly to pass Assembly Acts can only be brought into force if the majority of those voting in a referendum held throughout Wales vote in favour. The purpose of the amendments made to Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act by paragraphs 5 to 7 is to ensure that, if the Assembly Act provisions came into force, the Assembly would not lose any of the competence which it will have as a result of the amendments made to Schedule 5 by paragraphs 2 to 4.

Paragraph 6 of Schedule 6 amends Part 1 of Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act, which sets out the subjects to which provisions of Assembly Acts may relate, by inserting in paragraph 14 a new subject “Auditor General for Wales”. Paragraph 14 already includes the subject “Audit, examination, regulation and inspection of auditable public authorities”. The new subject together with that existing competence would enable an Assembly Act to make similar types of provision in relation to the AGW as matter 14.1 in Schedule 5.

Paragraph 7 of Schedule 6 amends Part 2 of Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act, which sets out restrictions on the Assembly’s competence to pass Assembly Acts. The amendments provide for exceptions to the prohibitions on Assembly Acts being able to modify certain provisions of the 1998 and 2006 Acts. These exceptions will enable an Assembly Act to modify most of the provisions of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act, which deals with the office of AGW, and will enable an Assembly Act to modify other provisions of the 1998 and 2006 Acts if the purpose of the amendment relates to the oversight or supervision of the AGW. The amendments made by paragraph 7(3) also include provisions to protect the AGW’s independence from the Assembly and Welsh Assembly Government.

The 2006 Act provides that neither an Assembly Measure nor an Assembly Act can modify functions of the Comptroller and Auditor General unless the Secretary of State consents. Part 2 of the Bill transfers certain functions carried out by the C&AG to the National Audit Office and paragraphs 26 to 28 of Schedule 5 to the Bill will extend the restrictions in the 2006 Act to the functions of the new NAO. In consequence, the Assembly will not be able to modify the NAO’s functions without the agreement of the Secretary of State.

An Explanatory Memorandum setting out the background and context to the measure-making powers we are seeking has been laid before the National Assembly for Wales.

WELSH ASSEMBLY GOVERNMENT MEMORANDUM ON POWERS CONFERRING LEGISLATIVE COMPETENCE ON THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY FOR WALES

Introduction

1. This memorandum sets out the background and context relevant to clause 27 of, and Schedule 6 to, the Budget Responsibility and National Audit Bill, conferring legislative competence on the National Assembly for Wales (“the NAW”) in relation to the governance arrangements for the Auditor General for Wales (“the AGW”). The AGW and the AGW’s staff are known as the Wales Audit Office (WAO).

Background

2. Part 3 of the Government of Wales Act 2006 (c.32) (“the 2006 Act”) gives the NAW the power to pass legislation known as Assembly Measures.

3. The NAW may pass Measures in relation to the “Matters” which are listed in 20 “Fields” in Part 1 of Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act. Additions to the Assembly’s legislative competence are made by adding new Matters to the Fields in Part 1 of Schedule 5. The 2006 Act includes a power to add new matters by Order in Council, and matters may also be added by provisions in Acts of Parliament, which are referred to as “framework powers”. Assembly Measures can make any provision that can be made by an Act of Parliament in relation to those Matters, subject to certain restrictions contained in the 2006 Act.

4. Schedule 6 to the Bill grants the NAW law-making powers by inserting a new Matter (Matter 14.1) in Field 14 (Public Administration) of Schedule 5. The purpose of Matter 14.1 is to enable the NAW to put in place new governance arrangements for the AGW (which may be similar to those that the Bill proposes for the Comptroller and Auditor General and the National Audit Office) whilst respecting the operational independence of the AGW. Schedule 6 would also amend paragraphs 3 and 6 in Part 2 of Schedule 5 (which sets out general restrictions on the NAW’s legislative competence) to enable the NAW to modify certain provisions of the Government of Wales Act 1998 (“the 1998 Act”) and provisions of the 2006 Act relating to the AGW.

5. Part 4 of the 2006 Act includes provision which would enable the NAW to pass legislation known as Acts of the Assembly (the “Assembly Act provisions”) if the majority of those voting in a referendum in Wales vote in favour (and the Welsh Ministers make an order commencing the provisions). Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act sets out the subjects in relation to which the NAW may pass Acts, and the exceptions from those subjects. Schedule 6 amends paragraph 14 in Part 1 of Schedule 7 to insert “the Auditor General for Wales” as a new subject, and amends the restrictions in paragraphs 2 and 5 in Part 2 of Schedule 7 to enable the NAW to modify the 1998 and 2006 Acts. That will add to the competence already stated there – i.e. “Audit, examination, regulation and inspection of auditable public authorities”.

Context

6. The Public Audit (Wales) Act 2004 ('the 2004 Act') created a single public audit body for Wales, covering the Assembly Government, its sponsored bodies, local government and the NHS in Wales. As a result, the AGW performs a role equivalent to that of both the Comptroller and Auditor General and the Audit Commission in England but with some important differences. There is no direct 'devolved' equivalent to the Public Accounts Commission in Wales, although the NAW is required by the 2006 Act to have an Audit Committee (now known as the Public Accounts Committee). The 2006 Act continued the office of the AGW with minor modifications including new functions reflecting changes in the devolution settlement, such as granting approvals to draw from the Welsh Consolidated Fund and auditing the accounts of the NAW Commission.

7. Detailed provisions about the appointment and status of the AGW, the AGW's staff, financial affairs and general powers of the AGW are set out in Schedule 8 to and, in relation to financial matters, Part 5 of the 2006 Act. The office of the AGW is a corporation sole. The "Wales Audit Office" has no legal personality of its own, but is a collective term used to describe the AGW and the AGW's staff.

8. The AGW is appointed by Her Majesty on the nomination of the NAW. The tenure of the AGW is governed by paragraph 2 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act. There is no express statutory provision that governs either the length of the appointment or the number of times that a person may hold that office but such provision is made in the terms and conditions of the AGW's appointment.

9. In the exercise of his functions, the AGW is not subject to the direction or control of the NAW or the Assembly Government. The AGW is not an officer of the NAW in the way that the Comptroller and Auditor General is an officer of the House of Commons.

10. The AGW appoints staff, sets their terms and conditions and has power to secure provision of services for assisting in the exercise of the AGW's functions. Sums required for these purposes and other expenses are paid from the AGW's budget, the estimate for which is considered (and possibly modified by) the NAW's Public Accounts Committee in accordance with paragraph 12 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act and which forms part of the overall budget motion moved annually in the NAW (as required by section 125 of the 2006 Act).

11. The AGW is empowered in some cases, and required in others, to charge fees for auditing accounts and carrying out inspections and examinations, for example, into economy, efficiency and effectiveness. In addition to any funds made available in a NAW budget resolution by virtue of section 120(1) and (2) of the 2006 Act, certain provisions of enactments may authorise the AGW in some circumstances to retain receipts, for example, from fees charged for specified purposes. The AGW also has power to borrow to meet a temporary excess of expenditure over income.

12. The AGW is the Accounting Officer for the Wales Audit Office. The NAW appoints the auditor of the accounts of the AGW and sets the terms and conditions of that appointment. The AGW is required to pay that auditor such remuneration as is provided for in the terms of appointment. The auditor of the AGW certifies the AGW's accounts and lays them with the auditor's report before the NAW. That auditor may also carry out examinations into the economy, efficiency and effectiveness with which the AGW has used resources in the exercise of his functions and the auditor may lay any report on such an examination before the NAW.

13. The AGW has appointed an Audit and Risk Management Committee, comprising independent members, which advises the AGW on the management of risk, control and governance.

14. There is a need to put in place enhanced governance and accountability arrangements for the operation of the AGW. To this end, the Public Accounts Committee of the NAW, which has an oversight role, has agreed to undertake a review of the governance of the AGW. The Committee has established formal terms of reference for such a review and is currently considering the best way to take this work forward. The review will include consideration of the International Peer Review of the WAO (commissioned by the AGW at the start of 2009, published on 8 October 2009 and an update on progress published on 7 October 2010). The Peer Review expressed the view that "there is scope to enhance and strengthen the governance of the Wales Audit Office without restricting the AGW's crucial independence to examine whatever subjects he chooses, and to make independent audit judgments on them free from political interference" (Recommendations, paragraph 8).

15. The legislative competence conferred by the proposed amendments would enable the NAW to pass legislation modernising the governance and accountability arrangements of the AGW. It would not allow the NAW to make the AGW subject to the direction or control of the NAW or the Assembly Government. However, that restriction would not prevent the NAW conferring functions relating to the AGW on a NAW committee (new or existing) independent of the Welsh Assembly Government and not chaired by an Assembly Member who is a member of a political group with an executive role.

Scope of Proposed Powers

16. The proposed competence would provide the NAW with law-making powers to modernise the governance and accountability arrangements for the AGW, subject to certain restrictions to ensure that the AGW continues to have operational independence in the carrying out of his functions.

17. The powers being sought would create a new Matter 14.1, in the public administration field in Schedule 5, enabling the NAW to pass legislation in relation to:

- the AGW's terms and conditions of employment relating to tenure and remuneration
- the number of times that an individual may be appointed to the office of the AGW;

- restrictions on the other offices and positions that may be held by an AGW
- the activities of a former AGW;
- requiring the AGW to aim to carry out AGW functions in an efficient and cost effective manner and to have regard to the standards and principles expected of an expert accountant or auditor;
- the authorisation of persons to exercise the functions of the AGW or on the AGW's behalf;
- the oversight or supervision of the AGW or the AGW's functions;
- the provision or use of resources in support of the AGW's functions including the employment and use of staff; procurement and use of services; the holding of documents or information; and the keeping of records;
- the charging of fees and other amounts relating to the AGW's functions or to auditors appointed by the AGW (such as auditors which the AGW appoints under section 13(2) of the Public Audit (Wales) Act 2004 to audit the accounts of local government bodies in Wales); and
- the restatement of any law relating to the AGW.

18. Matter 14.1 would enable the NAW to make changes in the governance arrangements for the AGW, which could be similar to those which are set out in Part 2 of the Bill in relation to the Comptroller and Auditor General and the National Audit Office. For example, the provision which might be made by a Measure relating to matter 14.1 could include establishing the Wales Audit Office with functions relating to the oversight or support of the AGW, and specifying the number of members, their roles and terms of appointment. However, the nature of any changes would be for the NAW to determine.

19. Paragraph 4 of Schedule 6 to the Bill also amends paragraphs 3 and 6 in Part 2 of Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act ("Exceptions to Matters and General Restrictions"). Part 2 of Schedule 5 includes restrictions on the provision which can be made in an Assembly Measure. If a provision of a Measure breaches any of them, it is outside of the NAW's legislative competence and is not law. The restrictions are subject to exceptions set out in Part 3 of Schedule 5.

20. Paragraph 4 makes changes to paragraphs 3 and 6 of Part 2 of Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act which would apply to any provision that may flow from new Matter 14.1 (as described in new paragraph 3(3) of Part 2 of Schedule 5). In relation to such a provision, paragraph 4(2) disapplies paragraph 3 of Part 2 of Schedule 5 (which protects certain other enactments against amendment) insofar as it relates to certain provisions of the Government of Wales Act 1998, and paragraph 4(3) disapplies paragraph 6(1) of Part 2 (which provides that an Assembly Measure cannot modify provisions in the 2006 Act). The effect is that such a provision may amend the 2006 Act and the specified provisions of the 1998 Act provided that the purpose of the provision relates to the things listed in Matter 14.1 (or, for example, is consequential on or incidental to such provision).

21. However, paragraph 4(3) of Schedule 6 to the Bill goes on to provide that such a provision may not amend paragraph 3 of Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act, which protects the independence and status of the AGW. It also provides that a provision to which new paragraph 3(3) applies (i.e. a provision flowing from Matter 14.1) may only give a role to a NAW committee which excludes from its membership the First Minister, the Welsh Ministers, their Deputies and the Counsel General (or anyone acting as such); and which is not chaired by an Assembly Member who is a member of a political group with an executive role. In other words, a Measure may only give a role relating to the AGW and which affects the independence of the AGW to the NAW Public Accounts Committee or another committee which is independent of the Assembly Government.

22. Paragraph 6 of Schedule 6 to the Bill would amend Part 1 of Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act, which sets out the subjects to which provisions of Assembly Acts may relate, to insert a new subject “Auditor General for Wales” in paragraph 14 (public administration). Paragraph 14 already includes the subject “Audit, examination, regulation and inspection of auditable public authorities”, which would cover parts of the subject-matter of matter 14.1 in Schedule 5. The new subject would ensure that an Assembly Act could make similar types of provision in relation to the AGW as matter 14.1 in Schedule 5. However, it is worded differently in view of the subjects already included in Schedule 7 and the more general drafting style of that Schedule.

23. Paragraph 7 of Schedule 6 to the Bill also amends Part 2 of Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act, which sets out restrictions on the NAW’s competence to pass Assembly Acts. The amendments provide for exceptions to the prohibitions on Assembly Acts being able to modify certain provisions of the 1998 and 2006 Acts, set out in paragraphs 2 and 5 of Part 2<sup>2</sup>. These exceptions will enable an Assembly Act to modify Schedule 8 to the 2006 Act, which deals with the office of the AGW, and will enable an Assembly Act to modify other provisions of the 1998 and 2006 Acts if the purpose of the amendment relates to the oversight or supervision of the AGW. Like the amendments to Schedule 5, these amendments include provisions to protect the AGW’s independence from the NAW and Welsh Assembly Government (see paragraph 21 above).

24. The purpose of the amendments to Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act is to ensure that, if the Assembly Act provisions were to come into force, the NAW would not lose any of the legislative competence conferred by matter 14.1 in Schedule 5.

Geographical limits

25. Section 94 of the 2006 Act provides that a provision of an Assembly Measure is outside the NAW’s legislative competence if it applies otherwise than in relation to Wales or confers, imposes, modifies or removes functions exercisable otherwise than in relation to Wales (or gives power to do so). Section 108 makes equivalent provision in relation to Assembly Acts. There are limited exceptions for certain kinds of ancillary provision, for example provision appropriate to make the provisions of the

---

<sup>2</sup> The amendments in paragraph 7(2) and (3)(a) of Schedule 6 to the Bill have been drafted to take account of other amendments to paragraphs 2 and 5 in Schedule 7 to the 2006 Act which would be made by articles 10 and 11 of the draft National Assembly for Wales (Legislative Competence) (Amendment of Schedule 7 to the Government of Wales Act 2006) Order 2010.

Measure or Act effective, provision enabling the provisions of the Measure or Act to be enforced and to make consequential amendments to other legislation.

26. The limitations relating to functions other than in relation to Wales mean that the NAW would generally not be able by Measure or Act to confer functions which did not relate to Wales. The functions of the AGW relate to Wales and to Welsh public bodies.

Restrictions on modifying and conferring functions

27. By virtue of paragraph 1 of Part 2 of Schedule 5 to the 2006 Act, and paragraph 7 of Part 3 of that Schedule, the NAW may not by Measure alter or remove functions of a Minister of the Crown without the consent of the relevant Secretary of State (and may not create new Minister of the Crown functions at all). Similarly, by virtue of paragraphs 1 and 6 in Parts 2 and 3 of Schedule 7, an Assembly Act may not modify or remove pre-commencement functions<sup>3</sup> of a Minister of the Crown without the Secretary of State's consent unless the provision is incidental to or consequential on another provision contained in the Assembly Act; and an Assembly Act cannot confer or impose a function on a Minister of the Crown without the Secretary of State's consent. The proposed provisions themselves do not modify or remove any functions of a Minister of the Crown. In relation to any future proposals for Assembly Measures or Acts that may impact on Minister of the Crown functions, the appropriate UK Government Departments would first be consulted and agreement sought before any change to, or modification of, those functions could be made.

28. By virtue of paragraph 5 of Part 2 of Schedule 5, and paragraph 8 of Part 3 of that Schedule, a provision of an Assembly Measure cannot modify functions of the Comptroller and Auditor General unless the Secretary of State consents. Paragraphs 4 and 7 in Parts 2 and 3 of Schedule 7 impose the same restriction on Assembly Acts. Paragraphs 26-28 of Schedule 5 to the Bill will extend these provisions of the 2006 Act to functions of the new National Audit Office. This consequential amendment reflects the fact that, if Part 2 of the Bill is enacted, certain functions currently carried out by the Comptroller and Auditor General will in future be carried out by the National Audit Office. The NAW will not be able to modify those functions without the agreement of the Secretary of State.
