Inquiry into the impact of the Covid-19 outbreak on children and young people in Wales

Why isn't there more emphasis and provision on online learning for young people and children? So many parents are reluctant to send their children back to school whilst the pandemic remains a threat. Most children have online access, it would be far better to supply those who don't with wifi and provide laptop/tablet access to disadvantaged families. Far better to stagger the times of online learning for families with differing age group children throughout the day with face to face teacher provision taking the onus off parents for their children's education. Children's socialisation can be better served outside the school environment which is now limited at best.
