Dear Judith

Many congratulations on the anticipated opening of the Grange University Hospital ahead of schedule.

Recently, as Chair of the Health Committee, I have received some representations expressing concern that there are currently no staff rest facilities available at the new hospital. I understand there has been an undertaking by the Trust to provide some of these facilities, albeit at a lesser provision than currently exists elsewhere within the health board.

These rest facilities have been vital during recent times in enabling frontline staff to deliver services in extremely challenging circumstances, and I am sure you will agree that the continued provision of adequate facilities in the new hospital will be important in helping staff to cope with the difficult winter period ahead.

I would therefore be grateful to receive assurances from you that this matter will be addressed as a matter of urgency.

Yours sincerely

Dr Dai Lloyd AM
