At/To Mick Antoniw:

During Plenary on 25 January 2012 you asked a question in relation to Welsh Government flood alleviation investment in South Wales Central, and requested a statement on the Tylcha Ganol flood scheme in Tonyrefail and the Glyntaf Farm scheme at Rhydfelin.

I am pleased to let you know that the Tylcha Ganol/Tylcha Fach, flood alleviation scheme was completed in November 2009 at a cost of £529,173, which was funded by an 85% grant rate from the Welsh Government, amounting to £449,797. Officials are awaiting the final audited accounts for the Rhondda Cynon Taf Council.

Work on the Rhydfelin Glyn Taff Farm Estate flood alleviation scheme started on 16 January 2012 at a total cost of £2,986,000. The scheme is supported by £1,229,309 from the European Regional Development Fund with the balance of £1,757,351 being supported with an 85% grant from the Welsh Government, amounting to £1,493,749. It is estimated that the scheme will be completed by the end of the year.

A copy of this letter will be placed in the library of the National Assembly for Wales.

At/To Suzy Davies:

I refer to the question that you posed to me during Plenary on 25 January regarding specific advertising campaigns for Welsh Heritage primarily linked to attracting Olympic visitors to Wales.

Visit Wales falls within the portfolio of the Minister for Business, Enterprise, Technology and Science for whom I work closely with on such matters. The Heritage offer in Wales is integral to Visit Wales campaigns and it forms a key part of the wider Wales message to potential visitors. In terms of planning for 2012 campaigns, the opportunities presented by the Olympics have been a key consideration. I understand that Visit Wales is scheduling its UK TV campaign to tie in with the wider UK campaign created by Visit England. This campaign is designed to encourage UK residents to holiday within the UK during the Olympic year. The 2012 "Wales View" which is Visit Wales' main print fulfilment piece features content from Welsh Olympians and we are actively considering how Welsh Olympians can be used more extensively to promote Wales heritage and tourism messages.

I can also advise that Cadw is playing a significant role in the Cultural Olympiad. Eight iconic Castles and World Heritage sites across Wales will utilise a wide range of art and artists, building upon local partnerships, to present a series of world class events to celebrate the London Games 2012. Cadw is working closely with Visit Wales to ensure that the detail of these events is fully captured in its marketing campaigns.

I hope that I have addressed your query in full.
