Dear Peredur,

Thank you for your letter regarding the UK Government's announcement on increasing National Insurance.

The National Insurance announcement and the associated increase in spending on health and social care in England will mean additional funding for the Welsh Government balanced against the impact of increased public sector employer contributions. However, we will only know how that fits into the overall UK Government spending plans and the impact on our budget when the Spending Review outcome is published at the end of October.

Funding allocations in Wales will be determined as part of the Welsh Government's 2022-23 budget process, which will be published before Christmas.

Yours sincerely,
