4. Are there certain groups of people who are more likely to be affected by drugs and excessive drinking? If so, which groups might they be?

All of the above and more are potential reasons that a wide ranging section of the population use drugs

Within Family Intervention Services, we observe that within many families, there is a lack of ability to cope. Also, past childhood trauma, contributes to many young people and adults abusing substances.

5. Does a particular stage of your clients' lives influence their likelihood of taking drugs or drinking excessively? If so, what stage might that be? (i.e. age, relationship breakdown, unemployment etc.)

In terms of age groups evidence suggests that young people are more likely to experiment with Cannabis

There will be periods in peoples lives where they are perhaps more prone or vulnerable to drug and or alcohol

It is also important to include; how experience of domestic violence can influence a persons use of substances

6. What barriers exist for your client(s) when trying to access support and services?

Actual and Perceived barriers include but are not limited to:

- Recognition that they in fact are experiencing a problem with drug and alcohol use
- Stigma
- Hierarchy of drug and alcohol users- some alcohol users may identify themselves as completely different
- Misconceptions that accessing services could lead to children being put into care etc
- Opening times of services
- Concerns re: formal records being made about their substance use
- Fears re: losing their employment, impact on families etc etc
- Others knowing about their drug and alcohol use as can often be a hidden and private issue
- Geography/ Rurality

7. What barriers exist for services when trying to access support for client(s)?

Actual and Perceived barriers include but are not limited to:

- Knowledge of provision available and its eligibility criteria
- Substance misusers wanting to engage in meaningful support
- Ensuring related needs and vulnerabilities are met
- Resourcing Performance monitoring
- Having the means/ resource to treat underlying causes of substance misuse rather than just symptoms
- Changing cultures and stigma

- A discriminatory attitude when enquiries are made initially, within some service areas.

8. What do you consider to be barriers for staff and frontline services in working with your client group(s), or substance misuse generally

The following concentrates on challenges to commissioning effective substance misuse services rather than

- Shifting resources and approach to an increasingly preventative and early intervention model rather than
- Joining up funding streams given there are different resources available with different commissioning
- Meaningful performance management frameworks that show outcomes have been achieved
- Resourcing Alcohol and the demand and prevalence of this issue
- Creating an approach that concentrates on sustained recovery

- Lack of appropriate training and understanding

9. Where do you think efforts should be targeted to address the issue of alcohol and substance misuse in Wales?

service user involvement at all levels of drug and alcohol treatment
Alcohol requires increased focus
There needs to be more of a shift towards preventative and early intervention approaches, however, this is as a result of the above more focus upon children and young people to prevent them becoming problematic
