

I have just seen an article about the proposed changes that you are considering.

I am sure you have received many long and detailed objections.

So I will keep it very simple.

This is wrong, it is not right for Wales and once again will provide the general public more ammunition to lambaste politicians,

I hope that you will give serious consideration to removing these proposals.

I myself was a councillor in Nottinghamshire for 32 years but when I moved to Wales I did not have the audacity to claim fuel allowance to drive the 220 miles back to meetings, which I continued to attend.

You are pandering to the few.
