Question	Answer
01	Yes Yes if it is conducive to promoting understanding and support of autism.
02	Not sure
03	Yes
04	Yes
05	If it's done right it's worth the wait.
06	As above
09	Yes
10	Yes
11	A neurologist
12	Lack of a rigorous review / audit following an assessment
13	Yes
15	It should be written in the guidance.
16	Yes
17	It should happen all the time. Autism happens all of the time for an autistic person. Awareness needs to be constant.
18	Id like to think so. Knowledge and experience and appropriate support of autism has been so lacking in schools in my experience. I want to see a shift in the way autism is regarded (predominantly negative in my experience) and in how support is reviewed (all too often isn't)
19	How will the support of individuals be reviewed? Who assesses whether individuals are receiving their support and what can be done to help them get the right support consistently. I'd like to see these questions answered in the bill.
