Question	Answer
01	Yes Yes it needs to be clear what is included for example ADHD and sensory processing disorders
02	No No it needs to be clear. A lot of these disorders already are undervalued and misunderstood. If it is not clear professionals will draw their own conclusions meaning a postcode lottery for a number of children and adults diagnosed
03	Yes
04	Yes Yes definitely, a lot of disorders are massively underfunded and these people and their families suffer daily If LA and NHS had the option to not follow the guidance then they would become the victim of funding cuts
07	As long as there is enough time for a thorough cost analysis and consultation to take place
09	Yes Earlier if possible
10	Yes
12	Signposting, people don't know where to go. Services are oversubscribed and underfunded. Waiting lists are ridiculous forcing people to go to charities or private. Educational status such as home educators are constantly discriminated against in accessing services that are universally a fundamental right.
13	Yes
15	It should be written on the Bill.
16	Yes
17	It should happen all the time.
18	I hope it would help my child access the services required promptly without having a negative and detrimental effect on his health, emotional well being and education
