Overarching issues

Key recommendation (2018). That the Welsh Government make the emotional and mental well-being and resilience of our children and young people a stated national priority. This status should bring with it a commitment to:

- provide adequate and ring-fenced resource for our schools to become community hubs of cross-sector and cross-professional support for emotional resilience and mental well-being. Schools cannot shoulder this responsibility alone - the support of other statutory and third sector agencies, most notably health, is essential;
- ensure that emotional and mental health is fully embedded in the new curriculum;
- ensure that everyone who cares, volunteers or works with children and young people is trained in emotional and mental health awareness, to tackle issues of stigma, promote good mental health, and enable signposting to support services where necessary. This should include working with professional bodies to embed training in initial qualifications and continuous professional development; and
- publish every two years an independent review of progress in this area. This process should involve children and young people throughout.

Recommendation A (2019): The key recommendation in our Mind over Matter report called for the emotional well-being and mental health of our children and young people should to be a national priority. Further to this, we recommend that the Together for Children and Young People Programme is extended to help ensure sustainable improvements in access to support services within both primary and secondary care through Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services (CAMHS), as well as supporting the whole-system approach. It is our view that the Together for Children and Young People Programme should be extended to coincide with the end of Together for Mental Health 2012-22, the Welsh Government's 10 year strategy to improve mental health and well-being.

The new curriculum
Recommendation 1 (2018). That the Welsh Government publish, within three months of this report’s publication, a route map of how health (led by the Together for Children and Young People Programme) and education (led by the Health and Well-being Area of Learning Experience) will work together to inform the new curriculum. This route map should contain clear milestones and specify the agencies or individuals responsible for delivery.

Measurement of well-being in schools
Recommendation 2 (2018). That the Welsh Government prioritise the work of improving measurement of well-being in schools within the inspection framework in order to drive activity and performance. The development of these measures should involve all relevant stakeholders to ensure that they are fit for purpose and do not lead to unintended consequences. Most importantly, children and young people should be involved in the process of preparing these measurements to ensure that they capture correctly the factors that influence their well-being. These measures should be available within six months of this report’s publication, or form part of the report of the independent review of the implications of the educational reform programme in Wales for the future role of Estyn, whichever is the earliest.

Emotional and mental well-being initiatives in schools
Recommendation 3(2018). That the Welsh Government undertake a review of the numerous emotional and mental well-being initiatives underway in Wales’s schools, with a view to recommending a national approach for schools to adopt, based on best practice. The Welsh Government should work with exemplar schools such as Ysgol Pen y Bryn in Colwyn Bay to develop elements of this national approach, including but not limited to mindfulness implementation framework for schools is published without delay, by December 2019. This is to ensure that all schools are working to a fundamental set of principles in relation to children and young people’s emotional well-being and mental health and are supported to do this. We want the Welsh Government to be working with schools to implement the guidance and to begin the self-evaluation process.
Recommendation C (2019): Further to Recommendation 3 in our Mind over Matter report, the Welsh Government must ensure the

Recommendation 4 (2018). That the Welsh Government, while undertaking the review we call for in recommendation 3, work in the meantime with the Samaritans to develop its Delivering Emotional Awareness and Listening (DEAL) Programme for wider use in schools in Wales. Subject to the results of the DEAL evaluation that is underway, the Welsh Government should fund the extension of the programme to the primary school sector.

Recommendation 7 (2018). That the Welsh Government issue interim guidance to health and education services (and other relevant statutory bodies) about the support they should deliver for emotional and mental health in schools. This should specify the support that they should expect from each other as statutory services. This guidance should remain in place, and should be resourced adequately, until the findings of the in-reach pilots are reported to us and others. The guidance should be issued within three months of our report’s publication and reviewed after the in-reach pilots conclude.

School counselling

Recommendation 6 (2018). That the Welsh Government assess the quality of the statutory school counselling available, not least how the service copes with increasing demand, tackles stigma and meets the needs of children and young people. This should include consideration of providing counselling support online and outside lessons/school, and for those younger than 11 years old.

RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
GREEN	Welsh Government has reviewed the schools counselling toolkit and the new version now applies to counselling in the community and online counselling. This extension of the guidance to cover these areas could be understood as paving the way for extending the reach of counselling so that more young people have access to it.	We should be progressing work to assess the quality of the schools counselling services across the country. There should be counselling services for school age children in accessible community locations and online available or in the planning stages.	Identify a method and process for carrying out an assessment of service quality. Commission additional counselling services for community access. Commission online services either on a National or regional footprint.

It is encouraging to see that in the budget for 2020-21 there is a commitment of an additional £500K to support the development of the whole school approach to mental health, including schools counselling. Nevertheless it is less clear whether this funding will also be invested in counselling services for pupils in the community and online.

There are indications that some of the new funding may be allocated to extending a counselling service to those aged 11 and younger.

There remain questions in relation to how schools counselling services address increases in demand. We have seen an increase in the number of pupils who have already received a programme of school counselling being re-referred or requesting to be seen again.

We also have questions in relation to quality. We haven't received any specific requests with regard to quality assessment from commissioners or Welsh Government. Barnardo's have internal quality standards for services that deliver counselling support, which comply with BACP standards and therefore also reflect the standards laid out in the reviewed schools, community and online counselling toolkit. Within that there is a clear statement of numbers of clients that counsellors can safely work with within a given time period. This was originally drawn from the BACP standards but has since been removed by BACP. It's unclear why they have taken this action. Having enough time to be able to dedicate good quality attention, emotional availability and reflect on the content of sessions is central to quality in counselling, therefore this is concerning. A pressured service which makes heavy demands on counsellors and low pay which can be a driver for a counsellor to take on a heavy workload might both be drivers that result in a compromise in quality. For these reasons having a clear benchmark in terms of work load is useful.

School staff
Recommendation 5 (2018). That the Welsh Government commission a mapping exercise of the availability of non-teaching staff in schools to support emotional and mental health and well-being, and the anticipated level of future need. This exercise should provide an outline of how any shortcomings will be addressed.
Recommendation 8 (2018). That the Welsh Government pilot the role of “guidance teacher” in Wales, or adopt another model that allocates responsibility for the emotional and mental health of pupils to a lead member of teaching or nonteaching staff.
Recommendation B (2019). To ensure that all school staff have a sufficient understanding of children and young people’s emotional and mental health and well-being, the Welsh Government should develop—as a matter of priority—a programme of compulsory training for new and existing school staff.
RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
Primary health care
Recommendation 9 (2018). That the Welsh Government make available the management data tracking progress in relation to local primary mental health support services (LPMHSS) waiting times for assessment and interventions for children and young people since the commencement of the provisions of the Mental Health (Wales) Measure 2010.
Recommendation 10 (2018). That the Welsh Government set out an improvement plan for local primary mental health support services (LPMHSS) for children and young people in Wales. This should provide an assessment of current levels of provision, the anticipated demand for services over the next 5-10 years, and the estimated level of resource needed to join the two. It should also outline how LPMHSS will engage with other statutory and third sector services, and provide the most accessible, appropriate and timely “intermediate” support services to bridge the gap between emotional resilience support on the one hand, and specialist CAMHS on the other. The improvement plan should outline clearly the pathways available for children and young people so that signposting to and between each level of services is clearer and simpler. It should make explicit reference to how LPMHSS should liaise with schools in particular.
Recommendation F (2019). Further to Recommendations 9 and 10 in our Mind over Matter report, we expect to receive a copy of the NHS Delivery Unit’s review of Local Primary Mental Health Support Services, as well as the Health Board improvement plans, this summer (2019). Publication of this information will help to provide a better understanding of whether there is enough capacity in the primary care CAMHS

RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
AMBER	REC 9: Stats Wales has data on numbers of people referred for assessment by LPMHSS however this isn't broken down into age groups so it's not possible to gain a picture of the access that children and young people are receiving. REC 10: Barnardo's Cymru deliver wellbeing support, counselling and therapy as part of Families First in two local authorities; Cardiff and NPT and a Lottery funded emotional support service in Gwynedd and Ynys Mon. The Families First provisions enjoy links with the LPMHSS via a primary mental health practitioner who can refer into these services and can offer advice on cases. Similar links are in place between LPMHSS in Gwynedd and our BLF funded Golau service. The question of whether these services should have direct access to psychiatrists in order to have safe oversight of the, sometimes high threshold, cases they work with is one we'd like to draw attention to. The service in Gwynedd/Meirioneth has been funded to provide wellbeing support at tier 1 &2. Whilst these service are aware of	Accessible data on assessment and interventions expected in April 2020. A better sense for Barnardo's and other third sector organisations of being part of a network of local services delivering LPHSS – or how this is being worked towards.	Involve third sector organisations delivering LPMHSS in local strategic planning. Make the Matrics Cymru version for children and young people available to inform what services are needed.

	changes in how LPMHSS services in their regions are being organised there remains, in our experience, a shortage of emotional, psychological and psych-social interventions for children and young people.

Care pathway

Recommendation 11 (2018): That the Welsh Government ensure:

- consistent pathways for all specialist CAMHS services, based on the national referral criteria once agreed, are implemented by all health boards (and related agencies where relevant) in Wales within six months of this report’s publication;
- each pathway is accompanied by defined standards against which all health boards can be measured and benchmarked consistently; and
- information is made publicly available so that health boards and the Welsh Government can be held to account for performance in a transparent and well-informed way.

RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?

The ‘missing middle’

Recommendation 12 (2018). That the Welsh Government outline as a matter of urgency, and within three months of this report’s publication, how it intends to address the challenges faced by the group of children and young people who do not meet the threshold for specialist CAMHS but for whom alternative services are not available – the so-called “missing middle”. This should include:

- the detailed steps it will take over the next six months to ensure that their needs are met and that relevant agencies are held to account for delivery; and
- an account of the consideration given to focusing referral criteria on levels of distress experienced by children and young people (the source of which can be behavioural, social (including attachment-related disorders) and/or medical in nature), rather than on a medically defined, diagnosis basis alone. This should include consideration of replacing the current “pyramid” model of care with the “iceberg” model presented to us in evidence.

Recommendation E (2019). We want to see the Welsh Government implement Recommendation 12 in our Mind over Matter report as a matter of urgency, including publishing details of it how it intends to take forward the early help and enhanced support workstream to reduce the 'missing middle'. We request an update from the Welsh Government on progress by the end of October 2019.

RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
UNSURE	We are aware from reporting to the committee by the Ministers for Education and Health and Social Services as well as the Together for Children and Young People's Mental Health Programme that much work is underway to progress this work. Our view is that this area of development is closely connected with the work that is taking place to address the shortfall in Wales of therapies and psychological therapies. Our services on the ground continue to report an absence of talk, play and creative therapies, though we do deliver or provide access to a range of therapies within a number of our own services. We are concerned that our services working with disabled children and their families who have been turned away from CAMHS due to an undiagnosed ASD and referred back to school to commence on the pathway	Informed via Matrics Cymru on the best practice approaches that should be implemented. Closer multi-agency working to deliver a range of therapeutic support and psychological interventions. No distressed child should be left with an inappropriate service or no service.	The Children's Commissioners report on how Regional Partnership Boards can respond more effectively to the planning and funding service for children with complex need and preventative work is expected in March. We anticipate that this will include recommendations on how to move forward to address some elements of the 'missing middle' need.

towards diagnosis. The wait for a service to address this can be long and our concern, and often the concern of the school, is where the emotional support for that child comes from whilst they are waiting for a diagnosis. It seems that there is often very limited resource. Where we find ourselves supporting these children and their families, sometimes our support and interventions are appropriate, sometimes a service will do the best they can to hold the case whilst supporting the family to re-refer to CAMHS. We do see more multi-agency working on a local level at points of assessment in particular, so that the best use can be made of the available resource. However the provision of therapeutic support programmes and interventions that are required by many of these children and young people remains very limited. We have informed the work of the Children' Commissioner on addressing how the RPB's can become more effective in addressing the need for services in this area.

Neurodevelopmental services
Recommendation 13 (2018). That the Welsh Government develop an immediate recovery plan for neurodevelopmental services in Betsi Cadwaladr University Health Board to address the unacceptably long waiting times faced by over 1000 children and young people. Recommendation I (2019). We recommend the Welsh Government fully implement Recommendation 13 in our Mind over Matter report in relation to neurodevelopmental services. Alongside this, the Welsh Government should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • set out a clear plan of how it will support Health Boards, local authorities and third sector partners to meet the needs of the estimated 40-50 per cent of children and young people who do not meet the threshold for diagnosis but need some help, to ensure that families are not left feeling unsupported; • routinely publish data on neurodevelopmental performance so that there is greater transparency and understanding of whether Health Boards are achieving the 26 weeks waiting time standard for assessment; • provide further details of how the Welsh Government intends to monitor the performance of neurodevelopmental services, so that frontloading support into assessment to meet the 26 week waiting time standard for assessment is not done at the expense of providing interventions following assessment; • publish the findings of the demand and capacity modelling work it is undertaking to ensure effective neurodevelopmental service models are in place across all areas of Wales.

Qualitative measures of performance
Recommendation 14. That the Welsh Government prioritise work to ensure qualitative measures of performance are developed to sit alongside existing referral to assessment waiting time data within six months of this report’s publication. This information should be made publicly available so that those responsible can be held to account for service delivery and performance.

Crisis and out-of-hours

Recommendation 15 (2018). That the Welsh Government, within six months of this report’s publication, in relation to crisis and out-of-hours care:

- work with Welsh police forces to scope an all-Wales triage model which would see mental health practitioners situated in police control rooms to provide advice when children and young people (and other age groups, if appropriate) present in crisis;
- outline how resources could be directed towards enabling crisis teams in all health boards to provide training and cascade expertise to other frontline services, particularly colleagues in A&E, in border areas (to improve cross-border relations with those centres most often accessed by Welsh domiciled patients), and in schools (to normalise conversations about suicide and self-harm in particular);
- ensure that follow-up support is being provided by health boards after discharge, provide information on how health boards monitor this provision, and commit to making this information publicly available to ensure transparency and accountability;
- ensure that all health boards are adhering to the requirement to hold designated beds that could be staffed adequately for unders-18s in crises, indicating how this will be monitored and reported in future, and what steps will be taken if such beds are not available;
- implement with pace and in a uniform way across health boards the single point of access approach to specialist services, to ensure timely and appropriate access to support, urgent or otherwise; and • reflecting on the results of the review of crisis care, outline what more needs to be done to deliver a safe and cost-effective 24/7 crisis care service in all areas of Wales, how that will be done, and by when.

Recommendation G (2019). Further to Recommendation 15 in our Mind over Matter report, we recommend that the Welsh Government undertake an urgent piece of work to better understand how and why children and young people access crisis/out of hours support. Further improvements to crisis and out of hours care for children are needed to help ensure children and young people can access immediate support when they are in distress, at any time. Access to mental health crisis support must be consistent across Wales, which may require Welsh Government investment to support those Health Boards currently unable to extend their services.

Suicide

Recommendation 16 (2018). That the Welsh Government, in relation to suicide specifically, work with expert organisations to:

- provide, within three months of this report’s publication, guidance to schools on talking about suicide and self-harm, to dispel the myth that any discussion will lead to “contagion”;
- work with expert organisations to prioritise the issuing of guidance to schools where there has been a suicide or suspected suicide; and

The Emotional and Mental Health of Children and Young People in Wales

- ensure that basic mental health training, including how to talk about suicide, becomes part of initial teacher training and continuous professional development, so that all teachers are equipped to talk about it.

Recommendation D (2019). Further to Recommendation 16 in our Mind over Matter report, the Welsh Government must ensure that all schools and local education authorities implement fully the guidance on suicide and self-harm to be introduced in September 2019.

In-patient services

Recommendation 17 (2018). That the Welsh Government:

- engage as a matter of urgency in addressing the reduced capacity in the north Wales in-patient unit; and
- provide in its response to this report an action plan detailing the practical support it is going to give to Betsi Cadwaladr University Health Board to return the unit to its commissioned capacity of 12 beds by summer 2018.

Recommendation H (2019). Further to Recommendations 17 and 18 in our Mind over Matter report, we want to see urgent action taken to address the demand pressures for in-patient care throughout Wales. We recommend the Welsh Government :

- ensure the capital works at Ty Llidiard are completed by the end of Summer 2019 and that the unit is in a position to accept children and young people at risk of suicide and self-harm;
- ensure the staffing issues at Abergele are resolved urgently so that the unit is in a position to accept children and young people at risk of suicide or self harm.
- explore with greater urgency options for creating extra in-patient capacity, specifically to cater for children and young people with complex needs who are currently placed outside of Wales;
- put in place more effective arrangements for 'stepping up' or 'stepping down' between different levels of intervention;
- provide capital investment to help progress at greater pace some of the opportunities for more integrated commissioning in relation to mental health, welfare and youth justice.

Recommendation 18 (2018). That the Welsh Government use the results of the review of in-patient capacity in Wales as a basis to:

- provide as many services as close to home as possible for Welsh domiciled children and young people;
- engage in dialogue with NHS England about options for the creation of very specialist in-patient beds that could serve populations both sides of the border; and

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> explore the viability of using spare in-patient capacity on the NHS estate to provide step-down services for those leaving placements.

Transitions
Recommendation 19 (2018). That the Welsh Government, in light of the importance of the transition period in retaining engagement with support services and the heightened vulnerabilities of young people as they enter adulthood, require health boards and local authorities to report to them on a six monthly basis: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the steps they have taken to ensure implementation of the transition guidance; their assessment of their level of adherence to the guidance; and details of the challenges they encounter when seeking to deliver smooth transitions and how they are mitigating those risks Recommendation J (2019). Further to Recommendation 19 in our Mind over Matter report, and given the heightened vulnerabilities of young people as they enter adulthood, we recommend that the Welsh Government consider all options for improving transitions, including exploring the extension of CAMHS up to the age of 25, to provide an extended period for young people to move into adult services, rather than immediately transferring to adult mental health services when they turn 18.
RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
Psychological therapies
Recommendation 20 (2018). That the Welsh Government, in light of the current variation in provision and the crucial role therapeutic interventions have to play, set out a national action plan for the delivery of psychological therapies for children and young people. As a minimum this should include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> an outline of how primary, secondary and specialist services will work together to ensure a range of therapeutic services across the spectrum of need are delivered effectively; specific plans for developing and maintaining a stream of sufficiently trained (and regulated/registered) therapeutic practitioners; details of the proposed review of prescribing trends for children and young people with emotional, behavioural and mental health problems, building on previous work undertaken by Professor Ann John and including an assessment of whether other interventions have impacted on these trends, to begin in the next 12-18 months; and an assessment of the plan's financial implications and affordability, and how its outcomes will be measured.

Recommendation K (2019). The Welsh Government should work proactively with the Health Education and Improvement Wales (HEIW) to ensure the CAMHS workforce is prioritised in the 10 year workforce strategy. We would welcome further information about plans for developing and maintaining a stream of sufficiently trained therapeutic practitioners to deliver interventions to children and young people.

Recommendation L (2019): Further to Recommendation 20 in our Mind over Matter report, we recommend the Welsh Government publish the children and young people’s version of Matrics Cymru by December 2019, alongside details of how this will help to ensure a range of therapeutic services across the spectrum of need are delivered effectively to children and young people across Wales.

RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
RED	REC 20: We are not aware of the publication of the children and young people’s version of Matrics Cymru so assume this is imminent. A strategic plan of how services would work together to deliver primary, secondary and therapeutic services would draw heavily on the standards laid out in the Matrics Cymru children and young people.	Matrics Cymru for Children and Young People published providing a guide for evidence based approaches and standards of practice interventions to inform the development of primary and secondary services in particular. Establish local networks of multi-agency services which deliver therapeutic interventions in a planned and integrated way.	Publish and share the Matrics Cymru for Children and Young People. Scope local delivery of therapeutic interventions. Establish a processes for engaging local delivery partners in designing a framework for delivering therapeutic services alongside and within CAMHS.

Prescribing and medication

Recommendation M (2019). Our view as expressed in Recommendation 20 of our Mind over Matter report, that a national review of prescribing trends for children and young people with emotional, behavioural and mental health problems is needed, remains unchanged. In the absence of such a review, we recommend the Welsh Government provide us with further assurances on this issue by December 2019.

Advocacy

Recommendation 21 (2018). That the Welsh Government, within six months of this report’s publication, commission a review of the current provision of – and need for – advocacy services for children and young people accessing all mental health services, not just those in in-patient

settings. This review should be undertaken in consultation with key stakeholders such as the Children’s Commissioner, the National Youth Advocacy Service, commissioned providers of services, and children and young people. Based on the review the Welsh Government should assess the viability of providing an active offer of advocacy to all children and young people accessing mental health services and should publish a full account of its conclusions.

Vulnerable children (including children who are care-experienced, adopted or have experience of the youth justice system)
Recommendation 22 (2018). That the Welsh Government work across agencies to ensure that the emotional and mental health needs of children and young people are assessed on entry to care and on receipt of a referral order within the youth justice system, and routinely thereafter. This will help inform planning of adequate provision of multi-disciplinary support to meet their often-complex needs in a timely and appropriate way.
Recommendation 23 (2018). That the Welsh Government, within six months of this report’s publication, undertake a piece of work on the provision of emotional, behavioural and mental health support for looked after and adopted children. This should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • be informed by the activity of the Ministerial Advisory Group on looked after children and the T4CYP Programme’s work; and • consider, in the case of looked after children, the extent to which public bodies are adhering to their responsibilities as corporate parents to provide both the physical and emotional support they need.
Recommendation N (2019). The Welsh Government should provide more detail about—and evidence that—the workstreams of the Joint Ministerial Advisory Group on outcomes for children, the whole-school approach programme, and the Together for Children and Young People Programme are linked and working in tandem to ensure that the most vulnerable children and young people are having their emotional and mental health needs assessed and can access support promptly. The Welsh Government should provide a further detailed update to the committee on this, together with timescales for progressing this work. In the meantime, we remain deeply concerned about the provision of emotional well-being and mental health support for care-experienced children.

Working with the third sector
Recommendation 24 (2018). That the Welsh Government, within three months of this report, act on the evidence received from the Royal

College of Paediatrics and Child Health that it needs to establish an overarching group “with teeth” to manage the joint working that is needed between statutory and third sector organisations in order to deliver effective and timely emotional and mental health support services.

Workforce
Recommendation 25 (2018). That the Welsh Government ensure that all health boards respond promptly and comprehensively to surveys on workforce numbers conducted by the Royal Colleges in Wales. This will help enable the design of services that take into account staffing capacity and respond in an effective and innovative way to any shortages.
RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
Welsh language services
Recommendation 26 (2018). That the Welsh Government ensure the T4CYP Programme undertake a comprehensive piece of work on the current and future availability of Welsh language emotional and mental health support services.
RAG status	Why have you given this RAG status?	Where, realistically, should we be by April 2021?	What needs to be done to get us there?
Reporting and data
Recommendation 27 (2018). That the Welsh Government require health boards to report expenditure on emotional and mental health services for children and young people in a uniform way to increase accountability and transparency. This data should include information on all services, not specialist secondary CAMHS services only, and should be broken down by area (e.g. primary, secondary, crisis, therapeutic, third sector etc.) This information should be made publicly available so that those responsible can be held to account in relation to the affordability, relative prioritisation and value for money of the services provided.

Youth work
Recommendation O (2019). The Welsh Government must ensure that within its Draft Budget for 2020-21, and in future financial years, sufficient funding is allocated to youth work in recognition of the vital role it has to play in supporting the emotional well-being and mental health of children and young people.
